

PUBLIC FILE, PART 1

KDND-FM HD2
Saturdays, 6:00A-6:30A

Description

Host: Kat Maudru

Locally produced news and public affairs magazine show featuring in-depth interviews, investigative reports, documentaries and feature stories on news events and issues of significance to the Sacramento area.

PUBLIC FILE
ASCERTAINED COMMUNITY ISSUES

1. EDUCATION, including the quality of public education; school busing; white flight; bilingual education; school violence; and the quality of college and adult education.
2. ECONOMY, including inflation; economic development; economic opportunity; welfare; unemployment; job training; labor relations; and consumer issues.
3. GOVERNMENT, including government spending; the provision of government services; taxes; general political debate by officials and candidates.
4. HEALTH, including quality of medical facilities; national health programs; nutrition; physical fitness; mental health; preventative health care; and medical malpractice.
5. ENVIRONMENT, ENERGY & TRANSPORTATION, including natural disasters; pollution (especially air and water); the water crisis; and the effects of urban sprawl.
6. MINORITIES, WOMEN & AGING, including discrimination and other problems of racial minorities; women and senior citizens; the handicapped; homosexuals; and religious ethnic groups.
7. CRIME, including increasing crime rate; youth and gang crime; police-community relations; gun control; law enforcement; the criminal justice system; and the prison system, reform and rehabilitation.
8. HOUSING, including rental restrictions; rent control; lack of low and middle housing; landlord / tenant relations; historical preservation; and mortgage rates.
9. YOUTH & FAMILY, including issues regarding marriage; the changing role of the family; parenting; child rearing; and abuse.

CATEGORY: EDUCATION

Issue: College Scholarships for Studying Special Education
Program: Public File
Date: November 21, 2010

Description: The goal of Runnin 4 Rhett is to let Rhett's story inspire those who feel defeated, to uplift those who feel down and encourage people to take that first step and MOVE INTO LIFE. Rhett Seevers was born on February 7, 1997. At four months, his parents were devastated by the news that their little boy had severe cerebral palsy and would face a life full of challenges. On March 13, 2004, after 7 years of full-time care, love and devotion, Rhett passed away. In the spring of 2005, as the anniversary of Rhett's death approached, a friend of Rhett's mom, Beth, introduced her to running. She learned of the Shamrock'n ½ marathon. It was ironically being held on the first anniversary of Rhett's passing. Completing the run was such an inspiration to Beth. The following year, she asked that her friends and family join her. 35 additional friends and family donned the first baby blue running shirts that year. In the spring of 2007, with the addition of an organized training group, over 125 people participated in the race. On December 7, 2007, the Runnin 4 Rhett Non-Profit Foundation was formed. As a result, in the Spring of 2008, a total of 400 people in all were able to participate in the event. A total of $12,500 was raised and the very first Runnin 4 Rhett scholarship will be awarded to a deserving Sacramento County college student in the spring.

CATEGORY: ECONOMY

Issue: Disabled Veterans
Program: Public File
Date: October 10, 2010

Description: The Disabled Veterans Business Alliance formed in 1994 following the establishment of the Disabled Veteran Business Enterprise (DVBE) program by the California legislature in 1989. The California DVBE program set a 3% goal for DVBE participation in state contracts for goods and services. It also required eligible DVBEs to obtain certification of their capabilities by the state's Department of General Services before they could participate in the program. DVBE.com was created by service-disabled veterans. Its purpose is to assist veteran-owned businesses by profiling their companies. This portal facilitates business opportunities with Government entities and contractors. Their mission is Veterans Helping Veterans to provide an information portal to promote business opportunities among service disabled veterans, veteran-owned businesses and the public and private sectors. There are several ways to get involved. Veteran members can profile their company in their online searchable database. The options available to the veteran allow potential contractors to view information they make available through the different profiling selections. Advertisers can post bids which will be automatically e-mailed to those veterans who've made the election to receive those bids.

CATEGORY: GOVERNMENT

Issue: Catching a Local Rapist
Program: Public File
Date: October 3, 2010

Description: Larry Crompton was an investigator in California during the late 1970s and 80s during the reign of terror of a man known as the East Area Rapist in Sacramento and Contra Costa counties and the Original Night Stalker in Santa Barbara and Orange counties. The perpetrator of at least 50 rapes and 12 murders has never been caught and was the subject of a May 2009 episode of "True Hollywood Story Investigates," for which Crompton was interviewed. He had written "Sudden Terror" a true crime book about the case. Because he was not involved in the initial rape investigations, they are written from hundreds of reports, notes, memos, newspaper clippings, conversations and interviews with those who were involved. The East Area Rapist forged a trail of terror from Sacramento to San Ramon in the late 1970s, randomly breaking into women's homes and raping them while their husbands were kept silent. Just as suddenly as he began his spree of 40 rapes, the attacker disappeared at the end of the decade without ever being identified. The Original Night Stalker / The East Area Rapist may be considered one of the worst and prolific "unapprehended" serial offenders in history since the Middle Ages. So far in the investigation, every named or investigated suspect has been cleared through DNA, alibi, or other investigative means and methods.

Issue: Disabled Veterans
Program: Public File
Date: October 10, 2010

Description: The Disabled Veterans Business Alliance formed in 1994 following the establishment of the Disabled Veteran Business Enterprise (DVBE) program by the California legislature in 1989. The California DVBE program set a 3% goal for DVBE participation in state contracts for goods and services. It also required eligible DVBEs to obtain certification of their capabilities by the state's Department of General Services before they could participate in the program. DVBE.com was created by service-disabled veterans. Its purpose is to assist veteran-owned businesses by profiling their companies. This portal facilitates business opportunities with Government entities and contractors. Their mission is Veterans Helping Veterans to provide an information portal to promote business opportunities among service disabled veterans, veteran-owned businesses and the public and private sectors. There are several ways to get involved. Veteran members can profile their company in their online searchable database. The options available to the veteran allow potential contractors to view information they make available through the different profiling selections. Advertisers can post bids which will be automatically e-mailed to those veterans who've made the election to receive those bids.

Issue: Medical Monitoring
Program: Public File
Date: October 31, 2010

Description: The mission of the Medical Board of California is to protect health care consumers through the proper licensing and regulation of physicians and surgeons and certain allied health care professions and through the vigorous, objective enforcement of the Medical Practice Act, and to promote access to quality medical care through the Board's licensing and regulatory functions. The Medical Board of California is a state government agency which licenses and disciplines medical doctors. The Board provides two principal types of services to consumers: public-record information about California-licensed physicians, and investigation of complaints against physicians. The Medical Board of California is also the state government agency that licenses and disciplines medical doctors. The 15-member Board is appointed by the Governor (8 physicians and 5 public members), the Speaker of the Assembly (1 public member), and the Senate Rules Committee (1 public member). The Board's Licensing Program assures that all physicians licensed by the Board meet minimum requirements established by law for education and training. The Board's Enforcement Program provides 2 types of consumer services: Investigation of complaints against physicians and information about physicians. The Board is not a physician-referral service. Individuals should consider filing a complaint with the Medical Board when they believe what a physician has done, is doing, or not doing has harmed or may cause harm to them or another person. Board staff receives and evaluates complaints against physicians. Complaints are investigated where there is reason to believe the law may have been violated.

CATEGORY: GOVERNMENT (Cont'd)

Issue: Traffic Safety
Program: Public File
Date: December 5, 2010

Description: The California Office of Traffic Safety's mission is to effectively and efficiently administer traffic safety grant funds to reduce traffic deaths, injuries, and economic losses. The California Office of Traffic Safety (OTS) strives to eliminate traffic deaths and injuries. It does this by making available grants to local and state public agencies for programs that help them enforce traffic laws, educate the public in traffic safety and provide varied and effective means of reducing fatalities, injuries and economic losses from collisions. OTS draws from several federal government funding sources for its grants. OTS also mounts public awareness campaigns and acts as a primary traffic safety resource in order to enlist the help of the general public and the media encouraging traffic safety.

Issue: Chronic Illness
Program: Public File
Date: December 19, 2010

Description: Chronic illness changes the lives of patients and their families in profound and personal ways. Relationships are destroyed, identities are lost, careers are redirected or abandoned, and finances are ruined. In most instances, chronic diseases can be as "life threatening" as diseases that have an inevitable fatal outcome. Chronic diseases challenge even the most skilled health care providers and strain a health care system that is poorly equipped to provide the necessary care. Co-existing conditions compound the management of chronic illness, and good options for treatment are frequently limited. Finally, the costs associated with chronic disease are truly alarming. For example, arthritis and related diseases – the most common causes of disability – currently affect 46 million people in the United States at an annual cost of $128 billion. These numbers are staggering, and they are projected to increase exponentially over the next two decades. This fact alone should add a sense of urgency to the quest to address the problem of chronic disease, which must be front and center if we ever hope to achieve effective and meaningful health care.

CATEGORY: HEALTH

Issue: Disabled Veterans
Program: Public File
Date: October 10, 2010

Description: The Disabled Veterans Business Alliance formed in 1994 following the establishment of the Disabled Veteran Business Enterprise (DVBE) program by the California legislature in 1989. The California DVBE program set a 3% goal for DVBE participation in state contracts for goods and services. It also required eligible DVBEs to obtain certification of their capabilities by the state's Department of General Services before they could participate in the program. DVBE.com was created by service-disabled veterans. Its purpose is to assist veteran-owned businesses by profiling their companies. This portal facilitates business opportunities with Government entities and contractors. Their mission is Veterans Helping Veterans to provide an information portal to promote business opportunities among service disabled veterans, veteran-owned businesses and the public and private sectors. There are several ways to get involved. Veteran members can profile their company in their online searchable database. The options available to the veteran allow potential contractors to view information they make available through the different profiling selections. Advertisers can post bids which will be automatically e-mailed to those veterans who've made the election to receive those bids.

Issue: Cancer Camp for Families
Program: Public File
Date: October 17, 2010

Description: Cancer is not a disease that attacks a single patient. Cancer is a radiant disease. It attacks the one afflicted, their family, and their friends. The Me-One Foundation is a non-profit corporation created to provide adult cancer patients and their families with an environment where they can be allowed to embrace life without cancer as the first and foremost thought of their every waking moment. The Me-One Foundation will provide families with activities and events to promote courage, hope, laughter, and enjoyment through Camp Challenge. Camp Challenge is a no-cost camp for families afflicted by cancer and in need of a place of joy and relaxation that will focus them on living life, and not fighting disease. By providing this haven of hope, they allow families to be victorious, even if temporarily, over cancer, and keeping life's scoreboard at Cancer-Zero; Me-One.

Issue: Medical Monitoring
Program: Public File
Date: October 31, 2010

Description: The mission of the Medical Board of California is to protect health care consumers through the proper licensing and regulation of physicians and surgeons and certain allied health care professions and through the vigorous, objective enforcement of the Medical Practice Act, and to promote access to quality medical care through the Board's licensing and regulatory functions. The Medical Board of California is a state government agency which licenses and disciplines medical doctors. The Board provides two principal types of services to consumers: public-record information about California-licensed physicians, and investigation of complaints against physicians. The Medical Board of California is also the state government agency that licenses and disciplines medical doctors. The 15-member Board is appointed by the Governor (8 physicians and 5 public members), the Speaker of the Assembly (1 public member), and the Senate Rules Committee (1 public member). The Board's Licensing Program assures that all physicians licensed by the Board meet minimum requirements established by law for education and training. The Board's Enforcement Program provides 2 types of consumer services: Investigation of complaints against physicians and information about physicians. The Board is not a physician-referral service. Individuals should consider filing a complaint with the Medical Board when they believe what a physician has done, is doing, or not doing has harmed or may cause harm to them or another person. Board staff receives and evaluates complaints against physicians. Complaints are investigated where there is reason to believe the law may have been violated.

CATEGORY: HEALTH (Cont'd)

Issue: Healthy Pets & Healthy Pet Owners
Program: Public File
Date: November 7, 2010

Description: A zoonotic disease is a disease of animals that may be transmitted to man under natural conditions. As doctors who work with both animals and their human owners, Veterinarians are an important source of information for zoonotic diseases. When a veterinarian sees or suspects a zoonotic disease, it is the responsibility of the veterinarian to alert the owner of the potential for disease spread to humans. Veterinarians can't offer a diagnosis or treatment for human owners, but must urge the owner to contact their human physician for consultation. Zoonotic disease has a long history. Ancient Greece and the Bible mention the Plague. The number of potential zoonotic diseases out there today is impressive: ring worm, lyme disease, rabies, cat scratch fever, tuberculosis and more. Your pet's veterinarian is a good first source for information. Find out about the disease and most importantly, how to care for your animal and prevent spread to humans. Most Veterinarians have professional brochures and handout information on the common zoonotic diseases in your area.

Issue: Achieving Your Life's Goals
Program: Public File
Date: November 28, 2010

Description: Jan Mendoza is a motivational author and broadcaster who uses her real-life experiences to help you get out of your own way to get things in your life accomplished. If you dreamed about being an author, entertainer, or mountain climber, Jan will help you reach your goals. Jan Mendoza worked many years as an on-air personality, is a certified paralegal and has embarked on many entrepreneurial endeavors in her life. Get up and get going, that's her motto. Her shows feature interviews with special motivational guests, and on-air callers. Her book, "I Was Born To Be", teaches tools for success – fighting negative voices, successfully managing time, getting ideas started and sold – and tools for life – legal facts about divorce and separation, dealing with turmoil in the family, and how to stay happy by living.

Issue: Chronic Illness
Program: Public File
Date: December 19, 2010

Description: Chronic illness changes the lives of patients and their families in profound and personal ways. Relationships are destroyed, identities are lost, careers are redirected or abandoned, and finances are ruined. In most instances, chronic diseases can be as "life threatening" as diseases that have an inevitable fatal outcome. Chronic diseases challenge even the most skilled health care providers and strain a health care system that is poorly equipped to provide the necessary care. Co-existing conditions compound the management of chronic illness, and good options for treatment are frequently limited. Finally, the costs associated with chronic disease are truly alarming. For example, arthritis and related diseases – the most common causes of disability – currently affect 46 million people in the United States at an annual cost of $128 billion. These numbers are staggering, and they are projected to increase exponentially over the next two decades. This fact alone should add a sense of urgency to the quest to address the problem of chronic disease, which must be front and center if we ever hope to achieve effective and meaningful health care.

CATEGORY: HEALTH (Cont'd)

Issue: Psychic Readings
Program: Public File
Date: December 26, 2010

Description: There are many misconceptions about what a psychic is, what a psychic does and what a psychic can do for you. Teachings relating to the spiritual realms are not usually included in our basic education. This is why it is so easy for fraudulent practitioners to get away with a scam. Anyone who predicts an absolute "set in stone" future – fortune tellers – is a scam artist. Real psychics are people with highly developed spiritual gifts who use them to help others become more aware of what is going on in their life spiritually. The word psychic is used to describe a person (or reader) who has the extraordinary ability to perceive and be affected by non-physical (spiritual) energies. Although most people have some degree of this ability, a professional psychic has developed an acute sensitivity to these energies. A good psychic reading combines accurate insight with practical advice; fosters hope and inspiration; encourages self-examination, highlights your gifts and abilities; and respects your free will and power to change.

CATEGORY: ENVIRONMENT, ENERGY & TRANSPORTATION

Issue: Traffic Safety
Program: Public File
Date: December 5, 2010

Description: The California Office of Traffic Safety's mission is to effectively and efficiently administer traffic safety grant funds to reduce traffic deaths, injuries, and economic losses. The California Office of Traffic Safety (OTS) strives to eliminate traffic deaths and injuries. It does this by making available grants to local and state public agencies for programs that help them enforce traffic laws, educate the public in traffic safety and provide varied and effective means of reducing fatalities, injuries and economic losses from collisions. OTS draws from several federal government funding sources for its grants. OTS also mounts public awareness campaigns and acts as a primary traffic safety resource in order to enlist the help of the general public and the media encouraging traffic safety.

Issue: Recycling during the holiday season
Program: Public File
Date: December 12, 2010

Description: While the winter holiday season brings good cheer for most people it also bring a lot more solid waste landfill, harm to the environment and additional debt to the average American family. There are many environmentally-smart tips that result in a less wasteful holiday. Every year, there are 2.65 billion holiday items sold in the U.S. That's enough to fill a football stadium field 10 stories high! Look for cards that contain recycled content or are actually recycled materials. Wrapping paper is often used once and thrown away. Try using colorful pages torn from magazines to wrap small gifts, and old maps or the Sunday comics for larger boxes. If you buy gifts, look for durable and re-usable items and resist the latest "fad" at the mall. If every American family wrapped just 3 presents in re-used materials, it would save enough paper to cover 45,000 football fields.

CATEGORY: MINORITIES, WOMEN & AGING

Issue: Catching a Local Rapist
Program: Public File
Date: October 3, 2010

Description: Larry Crompton was an investigator in California during the late 1970s and 80s during the reign of terror of a man known as the East Area Rapist in Sacramento and Contra Costa counties and the Original Night Stalker in Santa Barbara and Orange counties. The perpetrator of at least 50 rapes and 12 murders has never been caught and was the subject of a May 2009 episode of "True Hollywood Story Investigates," for which Crompton was interviewed. He had written "Sudden Terror" a true crime book about the case. Because he was not involved in the initial rape investigations, they are written from hundreds of reports, notes, memos, newspaper clippings, conversations and interviews with those who were involved. The East Area Rapist forged a trail of terror from Sacramento to San Ramon in the late 1970s, randomly breaking into women's homes and raping them while their husbands were kept silent. Just as suddenly as he began his spree of 40 rapes, the attacker disappeared at the end of the decade without ever being identified. The Original Night Stalker / The East Area Rapist may be considered one of the worst and prolific "unapprehended" serial offenders in history since the Middle Ages. So far in the investigation, every named or investigated suspect has been cleared through DNA, alibi, or other investigative means and methods.

Issue: Domestic Violence
Program: Public File
Date: October 24, 2010

Description: The PEACE for Families shelter provides critically needed temporary housing for victims of domestic violence. The shelter, which can accommodate up to 31 women and children at a time, is leased from the County. PEACE for Families offers a 60-day emergency shelter program for abused women and their children and administers a federally funded 6-month transitional housing program that includes substance abuse treatment. Shelter programs are designed to education families in non-violent conflict resolution and other general life skills to help them achieve self-sufficiency and independent living. The Grand Jury commends PEACE for Families for providing these critical services for extremely vulnerable, often desperate women and their children escaping domestic violence.

CATEGORY: CRIME

Issue: Catching a Local Rapist
Program: Public File
Date: October 3, 2010

Description: Larry Crompton was an investigator in California during the late 1970s and 80s during the reign of terror of a man known as the East Area Rapist in Sacramento and Contra Costa counties and the Original Night Stalker in Santa Barbara and Orange counties. The perpetrator of at least 50 rapes and 12 murders has never been caught and was the subject of a May 2009 episode of "True Hollywood Story Investigates," for which Crompton was interviewed. He had written "Sudden Terror" a true crime book about the case. Because he was not involved in the initial rape investigations, they are written from hundreds of reports, notes, memos, newspaper clippings, conversations and interviews with those who were involved. The East Area Rapist forged a trail of terror from Sacramento to San Ramon in the late 1970s, randomly breaking into women's homes and raping them while their husbands were kept silent. Just as suddenly as he began his spree of 40 rapes, the attacker disappeared at the end of the decade without ever being identified. The Original Night Stalker / The East Area Rapist may be considered one of the worst and prolific "unapprehended" serial offenders in history since the Middle Ages. So far in the investigation, every named or investigated suspect has been cleared through DNA, alibi, or other investigative means and methods.

Issue: Domestic Violence
Program: Public File
Date: October 24, 2010

Description: The PEACE for Families shelter provides critically needed temporary housing for victims of domestic violence. The shelter, which can accommodate up to 31 women and children at a time, is leased from the County. PEACE for Families offers a 60-day emergency shelter program for abused women and their children and administers a federally funded 6-month transitional housing program that includes substance abuse treatment. Shelter programs are designed to education families in non-violent conflict resolution and other general life skills to help them achieve self-sufficiency and independent living. The Grand Jury commends PEACE for Families for providing these critical services for extremely vulnerable, often desperate women and their children escaping domestic violence.

Issue: Medical Monitoring
Program: Public File
Date: October 31, 2010

Description: The mission of the Medical Board of California is to protect health care consumers through the proper licensing and regulation of physicians and surgeons and certain allied health care professions and through the vigorous, objective enforcement of the Medical Practice Act, and to promote access to quality medical care through the Board's licensing and regulatory functions. The Medical Board of California is a state government agency which licenses and disciplines medical doctors. The Board provides two principal types of services to consumers: public-record information about California-licensed physicians, and investigation of complaints against physicians. The Medical Board of California is also the state government agency that licenses and disciplines medical doctors. The 15-member Board is appointed by the Governor (8 physicians and 5 public members), the Speaker of the Assembly (1 public member), and the Senate Rules Committee (1 public member). The Board's Licensing Program assures that all physicians licensed by the Board meet minimum requirements established by law for education and training. The Board's Enforcement Program provides 2 types of consumer services: Investigation of complaints against physicians and information about physicians. The Board is not a physician-referral service. Individuals should consider filing a complaint with the Medical Board when they believe what a physician has done, is doing, or not doing has harmed or may cause harm to them or another person. Board staff receives and evaluates complaints against physicians. Complaints are investigated where there is reason to believe the law may have been violated.

CATEGORY: CRIME (Cont'd)

Issue: Traffic Safety
Program: Public File
Date: December 5, 2010

Description: The California Office of Traffic Safety's mission is to effectively and efficiently administer traffic safety grant funds to reduce traffic deaths, injuries, and economic losses. The California Office of Traffic Safety (OTS) strives to eliminate traffic deaths and injuries. It does this by making available grants to local and state public agencies for programs that help them enforce traffic laws, educate the public in traffic safety and provide varied and effective means of reducing fatalities, injuries and economic losses from collisions. OTS draws from several federal government funding sources for its grants. OTS also mounts public awareness campaigns and acts as a primary traffic safety resource in order to enlist the help of the general public and the media encouraging traffic safety.

CATEGORY: HOUSING

Issue: Domestic Violence
Program: Public File
Date: October 24, 2010

Description: The PEACE for Families shelter provides critically needed temporary housing for victims of domestic violence. The shelter, which can accommodate up to 31 women and children at a time, is leased from the County. PEACE for Families offers a 60-day emergency shelter program for abused women and their children and administers a federally funded 6-month transitional housing program that includes substance abuse treatment. Shelter programs are designed to education families in non-violent conflict resolution and other general life skills to help them achieve self-sufficiency and independent living. The Grand Jury commends PEACE for Families for providing these critical services for extremely vulnerable, often desperate women and their children escaping domestic violence.

CATEGORY: YOUTH & FAMILY

Issue: Cancer Camp for Families
Program: Public File
Date: October 17, 2010

Description: Cancer is not a disease that attacks a single patient. Cancer is a radiant disease. It attacks the one afflicted, their family, and their friends. The Me-One Foundation is a non-profit corporation created to provide adult cancer patients and their families with an environment where they can be allowed to embrace life without cancer as the first and foremost thought of their every waking moment. The Me-One Foundation will provide families with activities and events to promote courage, hope, laughter, and enjoyment through Camp Challenge. Camp Challenge is a no-cost camp for families afflicted by cancer and in need of a place of joy and relaxation that will focus them on living life, and not fighting disease. By providing this haven of hope, they allow families to be victorious, even if temporarily, over cancer, and keeping life's scoreboard at Cancer-Zero; Me-One.

Issue: Domestic Violence
Program: Public File
Date: October 24, 2010

Description: The PEACE for Families shelter provides critically needed temporary housing for victims of domestic violence. The shelter, which can accommodate up to 31 women and children at a time, is leased from the County. PEACE for Families offers a 60-day emergency shelter program for abused women and their children and administers a federally funded 6-month transitional housing program that includes substance abuse treatment. Shelter programs are designed to education families in non-violent conflict resolution and other general life skills to help them achieve self-sufficiency and independent living. The Grand Jury commends PEACE for Families for providing these critical services for extremely vulnerable, often desperate women and their children escaping domestic violence.

Issue: Adoption Through Foster Care
Program: Public File
Date: November 14, 2010

Description: Sierra Forever Families is a private, non-profit agency that focuses on finding and nurturing permanent homes for children. It was founded in 1983 by adoptive parents who saw that traditional adoption procedures stood in the way of placement of many children. Today, the agency has placed over 2,500 children in permanent homes. Sierra believes that every child deserves a loving home. Sierra serves children considered more difficult to place, and has become known for advocating and finding homes for older children and large sibling groups. At Sierra, there is no charge to adopt a child waiting in long-term foster care. Their placement services include family recruitment, matching of children with families, homestudy preparation, parent training classes, and therapeutic services (during and after placement), Sierra Forever Families is a California Non-Profit Public Benefit Corporation governed by its Board of Directors. Sierra is licensed to provide foster care and adoption services in twelve counties: Amador, Butte, El Dorado, Nevada, Placer, Sacramento, San Joaquin, Sierra, Solano, Sutter, Yolo and Yuba. These services are offered from their centers in Sacramento, Nevada City and Auburn.

CATEGORY: YOUTH & FAMILY (Cont'd)

Issue: College Scholarships for Studying Special Education
Program: Public File
Date: November 21, 2010

Description: The goal of Runnin 4 Rhett is to let Rhett's story inspire those who feel defeated, to uplift those who feel down and encourage people to take that first step and MOVE INTO LIFE. Rhett SeEVERS was born on February 7, 1997. At four months, his parents were devastated by the news that their little boy had severe cerebral palsy and would face a life full of challenges. On March 13, 2004, after 7 years of full-time care, love and devotion, Rhett passed away. In the spring of 2005, as the anniversary of Rhett's death approached, a friend of Rhett's mom, Beth, introduced her to running. She learned of the Shamrock'n ½ marathon. It was ironically being held on the first anniversary of Rhett's passing. Completing the run was such an inspiration to Beth. The following year, she asked that her friends and family join her. 35 additional friends and family donned the first baby blue running shirts that year. In the spring of 2007, with the addition of an organized training group, over 125 people participated in the race. On December 7, 2007, the Runnin 4 Rhett Non-Profit Foundation was formed. As a result, in the Spring of 2008, a total of 400 people in all were able to participate in the event. A total of $12,500 was raised and the very first Runnin 4 Rhett scholarship will be awarded to a deserving Sacramento County college student in the spring.

Issue: Achieving Your Life's Goals
Program: Public File
Date: November 28, 2010

Description: Jan Mendoza is a motivational author and broadcaster who uses her real-life experiences to help you get out of your own way to get things in your life accomplished. If you dreamed about being an author, entertainer, or mountain climber, Jan will help you reach your goals. Jan Mendoza worked many years as an on-air personality, is a certified paralegal and has embarked on many entrepreneurial endeavors in her life. Get up and get going, that's her motto. Her shows feature interviews with special motivational guests, and on-air callers. Her book, "I Was Born To Be", teaches tools for success – fighting negative voices, successfully managing time, getting ideas started and sold – and tools for life – legal facts about divorce and separation, dealing with turmoil in the family, and how to stay happy by living.

PUBLIC FILE, PART 2

KDND-FM HD2
Saturdays, 6:30A-7:00A

DESCRIPTION

Host: Kat Maudru

Locally produced news and public affairs magazine show featuring in-depth interviews, investigative reports, documentaries and feature stories on news events and issues of significance to the Sacramento area.

PUBLIC FILE
ASCERTAINED COMMUNITY ISSUES

1. EDUCATION, including the quality of public education; school busing; white flight; bilingual education; school violence; and the quality of college and adult education.
2. ECONOMY, including inflation; economic development; economic opportunity; welfare; unemployment; job training; labor relations; and consumer issues.
3. GOVERNMENT, including government spending; the provision of government services; taxes; general political debate by officials and candidates.
4. HEALTH, including quality of medical facilities; national health programs; nutrition; physical fitness; mental health; preventative health care; and medical malpractice.
5. MINORITIES, WOMEN & AGING, including discrimination and other problems of racial minorities; women and senior citizens; the handicapped; homosexuals; and religious ethnic groups.
6. CRIME, including increasing crime rate; youth and gang crime; police-community relations; gun control; law enforcement; the criminal justice system; and the prison system, reform and rehabilitation.
7. HOUSING, including rental restrictions; rent control; lack of low and middle housing; landlord / tenant relations; historical preservation; and mortgage rates.
8. YOUTH & FAMILY, including issues regarding marriage; the changing role of the family; parenting; child rearing; and abuse.

CATEGORY: EDUCATION

Issue: Arts & Education
Program: Public File
Date: November 7, 2010

Description: The Arts Council of Placer County (PlacerArts) was established in 1983 as a not-for-profit agency. As the catalyst for the arts and humanities in Placer County, the Council encourages excellence and expansion of visual, musical, theatrical, literary, media, and dance art endeavors. The Council serves as clearinghouse for information on the arts in Placer County and also publishes a bi-monthly arts magazine Perspectives. Its purpose is to create a forum for communication for artists and art organizations in Placer County and to increase awareness of activities and programs related to arts and culture in the area. PlacerArts presents professional performing arts and community theatrical performances in varying venues. Additionally, through its popular START program, PlacerArts sponsors presentations in more than 30 schools. The Autumn Art Studios Tour takes place each fall, and features artists throughout Western Placer County. Businesses in Old Town and Downtown host the popular Auburn Art Walk four times a year. The Art Walk has increased local awareness and business support of Placer Arts' programs. Artist-in-School residencies are provided through PlacerArts' START program and matching funds pool. Initiated in 1991 through a PlacerArts Regrant; the pilot was developed by local city partner Lincoln Arts, and since 1995 administered by PlacerArts. In cooperation with the Office of Education, PlacerArts serves foster and other youths at risk via Kaleidoscope Program for After School Arts and School/Community Violence Prevention Program.

Issue: Assistance to Local Non-Profits
Program: Public File
Date: November 14, 2010

Description: United Way California Capital Region is an independent local affiliate of United Way of American serving Amador, El Dorado, Placer, Sacramento and Yolo Counties. Founded in 1923, UWCCR has raised more than $400 million for the regional non-profit community. UWCCR is managed by a staff of 30 non-profit professionals and governed by a local board of directors representing the regional community it serves. They work with 750 employers in Amador, El Dorado, Placer, Sacramento and Yolo Counties to raise money through workplace giving campaigns. Since 1923, the local United Way has raised more than $400 million for the non-profit community by partnering with employers to offer their employees the opportunity to give to the non-profit of their choice through payroll deduction. Beyond that, they bring together some of these non-profits and a variety of community leaders to work on projects that get measurable, positive results on some of the tough issues facing our regional community. They work with volunteers and selected non-profits to invest the money donors direct to us in tackling tough issues in our community in the areas of Education – ensuring all students graduate from high school; Income – empowering people to be economically self-sufficient, and; Health – improving people's health by reducing obesity.

CATEGORY: ECONOMY

Issue: Arts & Education
Program: Public File
Date: November 7, 2010

Description: The Arts Council of Placer County (PlacerArts) was established in 1983 as a not-for-profit agency. As the catalyst for the arts and humanities in Placer County, the Council encourages excellence and expansion of visual, musical, theatrical, literary, media, and dance art endeavors. The Council serves as clearinghouse for information on the arts in Placer County and also publishes a bi-monthly arts magazine Perspectives. Its purpose is to create a forum for communication for artists and art organizations in Placer County and to increase awareness of activities and programs related to arts and culture in the area. PlacerArts presents professional performing arts and community theatrical performances in varying venues. Additionally, through its popular START program, PlacerArts sponsors presentations in more than 30 schools. The Autumn Art Studios Tour takes place each fall, and features artists throughout Western Placer County. Businesses in Old Town and Downtown host the popular Auburn Art Walk four times a year. The Art Walk has increased local awareness and business support of Placer Arts' programs. Artist-in-School residencies are provided through PlacerArts' START program and matching funds pool. Initiated in 1991 through a PlacerArts Regrant, the pilot was developed by local city partner Lincoln Arts, and since 1995 administered by PlacerArts. In cooperation with the Office of Education, PlacerArts serves foster and other youths at risk via Kaleidoscope Program for After School Arts and School/Community Violence Prevention Program.

Issue: Assistance to Local Non-Profits
Program: Public File
Date: November 14, 2010

Description: United Way California Capital Region is an independent local affiliate of United Way of American serving Amador, El Dorado, Placer, Sacramento and Yolo Counties. Founded in 1923, UWCCR has raised more than $400 million for the regional non-profit community. UWCCR is managed by a staff of 30 non-profit professionals and governed by a local board of directors representing the regional community it serves. They work with 750 employers in Amador, El Dorado, Placer, Sacramento and Yolo Counties to raise money through workplace giving campaigns. Since 1923, the local United Way has raised more than $400 million for the non-profit community by partnering with employers to offer their employees the opportunity to give to the non-profit of their choice through payroll deduction. Beyond that, they bring together some of these non-profits and a variety of community leaders to work on projects that get measurable, positive results on some of the tough issues facing our regional community. They work with volunteers and selected non-profits to invest the money donors direct to us in tackling tough issues in our community in the areas of Education – ensuring all students graduate from high school; Income – empowering people to be economically self-sufficient, and; Health – improving people's health by reducing obesity.

CATEGORY: GOVERNMENT

Issue: Arts & Education
Program: Public File
Date: November 7, 2010

Description: The Arts Council of Placer County (PlacerArts) was established in 1983 as a not-for-profit agency. As the catalyst for the arts and humanities in Placer County, the Council encourages excellence and expansion of visual, musical, theatrical, literary, media, and dance art endeavors. The Council serves as clearinghouse for information on the arts in Placer County and also publishes a bi-monthly arts magazine Perspectives. Its purpose is to create a forum for communication for artists and art organizations in Placer County and to increase awareness of activities and programs related to arts and culture in the area. PlacerArts presents professional performing arts and community theatrical performances in varying venues. Additionally, through its popular START program, PlacerArts sponsors presentations in more than 30 schools. The Autumn Art Studios Tour takes place each fall, and features artists throughout Western Placer County. Businesses in Old Town and Downtown host the popular Auburn Art Walk four times a year. The Art Walk has increased local awareness and business support of Placer Arts' programs. Artist-in-School residencies are provided through PlacerArts' START program and matching funds pool. Initiated in 1991 through a PlacerArts Regrant, the pilot was developed by local city partner Lincoln Arts, and since 1995 administered by PlacerArts. In cooperation with the Office of Education, PlacerArts serves foster and other youths at risk via Kaleidoscope Program for After School Arts and School/Community Violence Prevention Program.

Issue: Assistance to Local Non-Profits
Program: Public File
Date: November 14, 2010

Description: United Way California Capital Region is an independent local affiliate of United Way of American serving Amador, El Dorado, Placer, Sacramento and Yolo Counties. Founded in 1923, UWCCR has raised more than $400 million for the regional non-profit community. UWCCR is managed by a staff of 30 non-profit professionals and governed by a local board of directors representing the regional community it serves. They work with 750 employers in Amador, El Dorado, Placer, Sacramento and Yolo Counties to raise money through workplace giving campaigns. Since 1923, the local United Way has raised more than $400 million for the non-profit community by partnering with employers to offer their employees the opportunity to give to the non-profit of their choice through payroll deduction. Beyond that, they bring together some of these non-profits and a variety of community leaders to work on projects that get measurable, positive results on some of the tough issues facing our regional community. They work with volunteers and selected non-profits to invest the money donors direct to us in tackling tough issues in our community in the areas of Education – ensuring all students graduate from high school; Income – empowering people to be economically self-sufficient, and; Health – improving people's health by reducing obesity.

Issue: Personal Protection
Program: Public File
Date: December 26, 2010

Description: Point Blank Solutions Inc., is a leader in high performance, protective technologies, including state of the art ballistic technologies for the US Military, Federal Agencies, state and local law enforcement and corrections professionals through its Point Blank Body Armor and Protective Apparel Corporation of America subsidiaries. The company's mission is to protect and enhance lives. PBSI's subsidiaries design, produce and deliver the highest quality protective solutions in the world by driving innovation and continuously exceeding customer expectations. Looking to the future, PBSI's vision is to be recognized as the global leader in safety apparel and protective solutions while maintaining the corporate values of integrity, teamwork and excellence.

CATEGORY: HEALTH

Issue: Breast Cancer Awareness
Program: Public File
Date: October 3, 2010

Description: The Placer Breast Cancer Endowment includes breast cancer survivors and community activists committed to fully funding the Breast Cancer Endowed Chair at the UC Davis Cancer Center. The members are also determined to raise awareness regarding breast cancer prevention, early detection, and support services available during treatment. The UC Davis Cancer Center requests that $1.5 million be donated to fully fund an endowed chair. The Placer Breast Cancer Endowment goal is to raise and present the funds to the UC Davis Cancer Center. Their fifth Annual Pink & White Ball celebrates breast cancer survivors and generous donors. And each year, the "Hope for a Cure" Award is presented to an individual in the region who serves as an ambassador of hope in treating and/or finding a cure for breast cancer. This year's recipient is former Sacramento Kings player Bobby Jackson. A Granite Bay resident, Jackson has been a tireless supporter, raising awareness and necessary funding for breast cancer research.

Issue: Preventing Falls for Seniors
Program: Public File
Date: October 10, 2010

Description: Unintentional falls are the leading cause of injury death among residents ages 65 years and older and the fourth leading cause of injury death overall. In addition, falls are the leading cause of non-fatal injury-related hospital admissions. Across the nation, 35 states participate in Fall Prevention Awareness Day on the first day of Fall – September 23rd – and a Fall Prevention Awareness Day Proclamation was passed by unanimous consent. Falls have devastating consequences for older adults in terms of morbidity and mortality. For example, falls and fall-related injuries have been the leading cause of injury deaths among older adults. Fall-related hip fractures account for approximately 25% of injury deaths among those over age 65, and 34% of injury deaths among those aged 85 or older. Research indicates that the most effective interventions to prevent falls for persons at moderate to high risk of falls are multi-factorial, including environmental modifications along with risk assessment (including medications management) and physical activity (exercise).

Issue: Help for Abused Children & Horses
Program: Public File
Date: October 24, 2010

Description: The Grace Foundation of Northern California is an equine rescue and rehabilitation facility located in El Dorado Hills, California. They provide critical care and rehabilitation for abused and neglected horses and utilize their rescued horses for equine assisted learning and therapeutic programs for youth and children. Their purpose is to protect, care for, and heal these two important groups – children and abused/neglected animals. In 2002, 16 horses in a cruelty case were seized by Sacramento County Animal Control and placed in the care of Beth DeCaprio, a well-known small animal rescuer in the area. The horses began their journey housed on a small plot of undeveloped, residential land behind DeCaprio's house. Once she agreed to care for this unnatural herd, however, DeCaprio found her calling and the journey of what is now known as The Grace Foundation of Northern California began. Realizing that children were subject to cases of neglect and abuse just like her 16 horses were, DeCaprio decided to establish programs for children, individuals, and at-risk youth by putting some of these rescued animals to work as therapy horses.

CATEGORY: HEALTH

Issue: Shaken Baby Syndrome
Program: Public File
Date: October 31, 2010

Description: Shaken Baby Syndrome (SBS) is a collective term for the internal head injuries a baby or young child sustains from being violently shaken. Every year, nearly 50,000 children in the United States are forcefully shaken by their caretakers. The victims are on average six to eight months old, but may be as old as five years or as young as a few days. The shaking may occur as a response of frustration to the baby's inconsolable crying or as an action of routine abuse. Infants and small children are especially vulnerable to SBS because their neck muscles are still too weak to adequately support their disproportionately large heads and their young brain tissue and blood vessels are extremely fragile. When an infant is vigorously shaken by the arms, legs, shoulders, or chest, the whiplash motion repeatedly jars the baby's brain with tremendous force, causing internal damage and bleeding. While there may be no obvious external signs of injury following shaking, the child may suffer internally from brain bleeding and bruising, brain swelling and damage; mental retardation; blindness, hearing loss, paralysis, speech impairment, and learning disabilities; and death. Nearly 2,000 children die every year as a result of being shaken. Shaken baby syndrome is preventable with public education. Adults must be actively taught that shaking a child is never acceptable and can cause severe injury or death.

Issue: Assistance to Local Non-Profits
Program: Public File
Date: November 14, 2010

Description: United Way California Capital Region is an independent local affiliate of United Way of America serving Amador, El Dorado, Placer, Sacramento and Yolo Counties. Founded in 1923, UWCCR has raised more than $400 million for the regional non-profit community. UWCCR is managed by a staff of 30 non-profit professionals and governed by a local board of directors representing the regional community it serves. They work with 750 employers in Amador, El Dorado, Placer, Sacramento and Yolo Counties to raise money through workplace giving campaigns. Since 1923, the local United Way has raised more than $400 million for the non-profit community by partnering with employers to offer their employees the opportunity to give to the non-profit of their choice through payroll deduction. Beyond that, they bring together some of these non-profits and a variety of community leaders to work on projects that get measurable, positive results on some of the tough issues facing our regional community. They work with volunteers and selected non-profits to invest the money donors direct to us in tackling tough issues in our community in the areas of Education – ensuring all students graduate from high school; Income – empowering people to be economically self-sufficient, and; Health – improving people's health by reducing obesity.

Issue: Birth Defect Prevention
Program: Public File
Date: November 21, 2010

Description: The mission of the March of Dimes is to improve the health of babies by preventing birth defects and infant mortality. We carry out this mission through research, community services, education and advocacy to save babies' lives. March of Dimes researchers, volunteers, educators, outreach workers and advocates work together to give all babies a fighting chance against the threats to their health: prematurity, birth defects, low birth weight. Sacramento Magazine's 11th Annual "Best Of" part is a celebration featuring the best of everything as decided by the magazine's readers. Over 8,000 people enjoy fantastic food, drinks, entertainment and a live and silent auction at this celebration which has been rated the number one "Best Of" party nationwide. Proceeds, which are expected to reach over $300,000, benefit the local chapter of March of Dimes.

CATEGORY: HEALTH (Cont'd)

Issue: Selective Mutism
Program: Public File
Date: December 5, 2010

Description: Selective mutism is a social anxiety disorder characterized by not speaking to specific people or in specific venues. More extreme than shyness, the problem surfaces in varied degrees of severity, mostly in children. Selective mutism is not a speech disorder. Speech therapy and traditional individual therapy for the child are in face typically non-productive. Selective mutism can be considered an "addiction" to the avoidance of speaking, or a phobia of speaking. Selective mutism in childhood is highly correlated with social anxiety and social phobia as the sufferer develops. If not addressed and corrected, Selective Mutism can cause avoidant and dependent personality disorders. Anxiety worsens with time as it integrates insidiously into the personality. The biggest mistake made regarding selective mutism in children is the belief that "the child will grow out of the problem." The second biggest mistake is the incorrect use of medication, which typically worsens the problem.

CATEGORY: MINORITIES, WOMEN & AGING

Issue: Breast Cancer Awareness
Program: Public File
Date: October 3, 2010

Description: The Placer Breast Cancer Endowment includes breast cancer survivors and community activists committed to fully funding the Breast Cancer Endowed Chair at the UC Davis Cancer Center. The members are also determined to raise awareness regarding breast cancer prevention, early detection, and support services available during treatment. The UC Davis Cancer Center requests that $1.5 million be donated to fully fund an endowed chair. The Placer Breast Cancer Endowment goal is to raise and present the funds to the UC Davis Cancer Center. Their fifth Annual Pink & White Ball celebrates breast cancer survivors and generous donors. And each year, the "Hope for a Cure" Award is presented to an individual in the region who serves as an ambassador of hope in treating and/or finding a cure for breast cancer. This year's recipient is former Sacramento Kings player Bobby Jackson. A Granite Bay resident, Jackson has been a tireless supporter, raising awareness and necessary funding for breast cancer research.

Issue: Preventing Falls for Seniors
Program: Public File
Date: October 10, 2010

Description: Unintentional falls are the leading cause of injury death among residents ages 65 years and older and the fourth leading cause of injury death overall. In addition, falls are the leading cause of non-fatal injury-related hospital admissions. Across the nation, 35 states participate in Fall Prevention Awareness Day on the first day of Fall – September 23rd – and a Fall Prevention Awareness Day Proclamation was passed by unanimous consent. Falls have devastating consequences for older adults in terms of morbidity and mortality. For example, falls and fall-related injuries have been the leading cause of injury deaths among older adults. Fall-related hip fractures account for approximately 25% of injury deaths among those over age 65, and 34% of injury deaths among those aged 85 or older. Research indicates that the most effective interventions to prevent falls for persons at moderate to high risk of falls are multi-factorial, including environmental modifications along with risk assessment (including medications management) and physical activity (exercise).

Issue: Domestic Violence
Program: Public File
Date: October 17, 2010

Description: The center seeks to eliminate sexual assault and domestic violence through sensitive prevention, intervention and treatment. Crisis services include a 24 hour crisis line, concerned advocates responding to emergencies, and a domestic violence response team. Their emergency shelter includes 12 to 13 weeks of comprehensive programs for battered women and their children. Therapy services include counseling and support groups and alternatives to violence programs. Outreach and education services include community education and outreach programs, a Latina outreach program and a teen outreach. Their legal department assists in obtaining restraining orders, as well as legal advocacy and accompaniment to court.

CATEGORY: CRIME

Issue: Domestic Violence
Program: Public File
Date: October 17, 2010

Description: The center seeks to eliminate sexual assault and domestic violence through sensitive prevention, intervention and treatment. Crisis services include a 24 hour crisis line, concerned advocates responding to emergencies, and a domestic violence response team. Their emergency shelter includes 12 to 13 weeks of comprehensive programs for battered women and their children. Therapy services include counseling and support groups and alternatives to violence programs. Outreach and education services include community education and outreach programs, a Latina outreach program and a teen outreach. Their legal department assists in obtaining restraining orders, as well as legal advocacy and accompaniment to court.

Issue: Personal Protection
Program: Public File
Date: December 26, 2010

Description: Point Blank Solutions Inc., is a leader in high performance, protective technologies, including state of the art ballistic technologies for the US Military, Federal Agencies, state and local law enforcement and corrections professionals through its Point Blank Body Armor and Protective Apparel Corporation of America subsidiaries. The company's mission is to protect and enhance lives. PBSI's subsidiaries design, produce and deliver the highest quality protective solutions in the world by driving innovation and continuously exceeding customer expectations. Looking to the future, PBSI's vision is to be recognized as the global leader in safety apparel and protective solutions while maintaining the corporate values of integrity, teamwork and excellence.

CATEGORY: HOUSING

Issue: Domestic Violence
Program: Public File
Date: October 17, 2010

Description: The center seeks to eliminate sexual assault and domestic violence through sensitive prevention, intervention and treatment. Crisis services include a 24 hour crisis line, concerned advocates responding to emergencies, and a domestic violence response team. Their emergency shelter includes 12 to 13 weeks of comprehensive programs for battered women and their children. Therapy services include counseling and support groups and alternatives to violence programs. Outreach and education services include community education and outreach programs, a Latina outreach program and a teen outreach. Their legal department assists in obtaining restraining orders, as well as legal advocacy and accompaniment to court.

Issue: Affordable Housing
Program: Public File
Date: December 12, 2010

Description: Sacramento Habitat for Humanity, an ecumenical housing ministry based on Christian principles founded in 1985, is a local affiliate of Habitat for Humanity International whose mission is to eliminate poverty housing worldwide and to make decent shelter a matter of conscience. SHFH is one of almost 1,600 affiliates serving the United States and 90 developing countries around the world. As individuals and an organization, they recognize our social and moral responsibility to help the working poor, seek and work in dynamic partnerships to develop their community, and work to increase overall home ownership in Sacramento County. They serve Sacramento County, relying on the local community for volunteers, materials, services and financial contributions to fulfill their mission. Habitat for Humanity is an empowerment program, not an entitlement program, giving people a hand-up not a hand-out.

Issue: Chimney and Fireplace Safety
Program: Public File
Date: December 19, 2010

Description: The highly skilled firefighters and support personnel of Metro Fire serve nearly 640,000 citizens over a 417 square mile area, serving Sacramento and Placer Counties including the City of Citrus Heights and the City of Rancho Cordova. Historically, Metro Fire represents 16 former fire agencies, some of which were founded more than six decades ago. Today, Metro Fire is the seventh largest fire district in California with 42 strategically located fire stations. This time of year, there is a focus on fireplace safety. The high cost of home heating fuels and utilities have caused many Americans to search for alternate sources of home heating. The use of wood burning stoves is growing and space heaters are selling rapidly, or coming out of storage. Fireplaces are burning wood and man-made logs. All of these methods of heating may be acceptable. They are, however, a major contributing factor in residential fires. Many of these fires can be prevented. Because the chimney is the outlet for whatever fire you lay in your fireplace, it is essential that it works properly. A non-function chimney won't take the smoke away from your fire and in extreme circumstances could even cause a chimney fire, which would be disastrous for your home. Have the chimney inspected annually if necessary, especially if it has not been used for some time.

CATEGORY: YOUTH & FAMILY

Issue: Domestic Violence
Program: Public File
Date: October 17, 2010

Description: The center seeks to eliminate sexual assault and domestic violence through sensitive prevention, intervention and treatment. Crisis services include a 24 hour crisis line, concerned advocates responding to emergencies, and a domestic violence response team. Their emergency shelter includes 12 to 13 weeks of comprehensive programs for battered women and their children. Therapy services include counseling and support groups and alternatives to violence programs. Outreach and education services include community education and outreach programs, a Latina outreach program and a teen outreach. Their legal department assists in obtaining restraining orders, as well as legal advocacy and accompaniment to court.

Issue: Help for Abused Children & Horses
Program: Public File
Date: October 24, 2010

Description: The Grace Foundation of Northern California is an equine rescue and rehabilitation facility located in El Dorado Hills, California. They provide critical care and rehabilitation for abused and neglected horses and utilize their rescued horses for equine assisted learning and therapeutic programs for youth and children. Their purpose is to protect, care for, and heal these two important groups – children and abused/neglected animals. In 2002, 16 horses in a cruelty case were seized by Sacramento County Animal Control and placed in the care of Beth DeCaprio, a well-known small animal rescuer in the area. The horses began their journey housed on a small plot of undeveloped, residential land behind DeCaprio's house. Once she agreed to care for this unnatural herd, however, DeCaprio found her calling and the journey of what is now known as The Grace Foundation of Northern California began. Realizing that children were subject to cases of neglect and abuse just like her 16 horses were, DeCaprio decided to establish programs for children, individuals, and at-risk youth by putting some of these rescued animals to work as therapy horses.

Issue: Shaken Baby Syndrome
Program: Public File
Date: October 31, 2010

Description: Shaken Baby Syndrome (SBS) is a collective term for the internal head injuries a baby or young child sustains from being violently shaken. Every year, nearly 50,000 children in the United States are forcefully shaken by their caretakers. The victims are on average six to eight months old, but may be as old as five years or as young as a few days. The shaking may occur as a response of frustration to the baby's inconsolable crying or as an action of routine abuse. Infants and small children are especially vulnerable to SBS because their neck muscles are still too weak to adequately support their disproportionately large heads and their young brain tissue and blood vessels are extremely fragile. When an infant is vigorously shaken by the arms, legs, shoulders, or chest, the whiplash motion repeatedly jars the baby's brain with tremendous force, causing internal damage and bleeding. While there may be no obvious external signs of injury following shaking, the child may suffer internally from brain bleeding and bruising, brain swelling and damage; mental retardation; blindness; hearing loss, paralysis, speech impairment, and learning disabilities; and death. Nearly 2,000 children die every year as a result of being shaken. Shaken baby syndrome is preventable with public education. Adults must be actively taught that shaking a child is never acceptable and can cause severe injury or death.

CATEGORY: YOUTH & FAMILY (Cont'd)

Issue: Arts & Education
Program: Public File
Date: November 7, 2010

Description: The Arts Council of Placer County (PlacerArts) was established in 1983 as a not-for-profit agency. As the catalyst for the arts and humanities in Placer County, the Council encourages excellence and expansion of visual, musical, theatrical, literary, media, and dance art endeavors. The Council serves as clearinghouse for information on the arts in Placer County and also publishes a bi-monthly arts magazine Perspectives. Its purpose is to create a forum for communication for artists and art organizations in Placer County and to increase awareness of activities and programs related to arts and culture in the area. PlacerArts presents professional performing arts and community theatrical performances in varying venues. Additionally, through its popular START program, PlacerArts sponsors presentations in more than 30 schools. The Autumn Art Studios Tour takes place each fall, and features artists throughout Western Placer County. Businesses in Old Town and Downtown host the popular Auburn Art Walk four times a year. The Art Walk has increased local awareness and business support of Placer Arts' programs. Artist-in-School residencies are provided through PlacerArts' START program and matching funds pool. Initiated in 1991 through a PlacerArts Regrant, the pilot was developed by local city partner Lincoln Arts, and since 1995 administered by PlacerArts. In cooperation with the Office of Education, PlacerArts serves foster and other youths at risk via Kaleidoscope Program for After School Arts and School/Community Violence Prevention Program.

Issue: Adoption
Program: Public File
Date: November 28, 2010

Description: Jan Fisher recently completed a memoir about being adopted, Searching for Jane, Finding Myself. Without even realizing it, she spent most of her life looking for her birth mother's heartbeat, projecting the pain caused by her loss wherever it would stick. Searching for Jane, Finding Myself is a memoir that reveals the abandonment, fear, anger, and sadness that often results from adoption and demonstrates how healing can ultimately take place. Adoptees often live in a world that is permeated by loss, shaped by lies and deception, and cloaked in shame and guilt. The pain is deep, yet the wound is visible. To cope, many vacillate between good and bad, fantasy and reality, intimacy and rejection, caution and carelessness. Unconscious of their repetitive patterns, they rarely make a connection between the grief caused by loss of a birth mother and their negative behaviors. For some, Searching For Jane, Finding Myself begins the healing process. For others, it completes it.

Issue: Selective Mutism
Program: Public File
Date: December 5, 2010

Description: Selective mutism is a social anxiety disorder characterized by not speaking to specific people or in specific venues. More extreme than shyness, the problem surfaces in varied degrees of severity, mostly in children. Selective mutism is not a speech disorder. Speech therapy and traditional individual therapy for the child are in face typically non-productive. Selective mutism can be considered an "addiction" to the avoidance of speaking, or a phobia of speaking. Selective mutism in childhood is highly correlated with social anxiety and social phobia as the sufferer develops. If not addressed and corrected, Selective Mutism can cause avoidant and dependent personality disorders. Anxiety worsens with time as it integrates insidiously into the personality. The biggest mistake made regarding selective mutism in children is the belief that "the child will grow out of the problem." The second biggest mistake is the incorrect use of medication, which typically worsens the problem.

CATEGORY: YOUTH & FAMILY (Cont'd)

Issue: Affordable Housing
Program: Public File
Date: December 12, 2010

Description: Sacramento Habitat for Humanity, an ecumenical housing ministry based on Christian principles founded in 1985, is a local affiliate of Habitat for Humanity International whose mission is to eliminate poverty housing worldwide and to make decent shelter a matter of conscience. SHFH is one of almost 1,600 affiliates serving the United States and 90 developing countries around the world. As individuals and an organization, they recognize our social and moral responsibility to help the working poor, seek and work in dynamic partnerships to develop their community, and work to increase overall home ownership in Sacramento County. They serve Sacramento County, relying on the local community for volunteers, materials, services and financial contributions to fulfill their mission. Habitat for Humanity is an empowerment program, not an entitlement program, giving people a hand-up not a hand-out.

THE BEST OF OUR KNOWLEDGE

KDND-FM HD-2
Saturdays, 7:00A-7:30A

Description

Every day, faculty members at schools and universities throughout the world are making discoveries that shape our ways of thinking and redefine our understanding of today's knowledge-driven society. Since 1990, The Best of Our Knowledge has highlighted breakthroughs across disciplines and across the globe, putting you in touch with the men and women at the front of their fields. Each week, co-host Dr. Karen R. Hitchcock examines some of the issues unique to college campuses, looks at the latest research, and invites commentary from experts and administrators from all levels of education.

Glenn Busby, co-host and producer of Best of Our Knowledge, has made a special commitment to report on important developments in educational research. The fact is, at every college and university there is a great deal of research being conducted which could potentially have a dramatic impact on the ways in which we educate our students, from the lower grades right through graduate school. Unfortunately, all too often the results of that research are relegated to a shelf somewhere, or are only seen by the small number of people who actually read the scholarly journals. There is no question that the work is being done – the problem is, once it's done, the people in a position to benefit from it most haven't gotten a chance to hear about it.

PUBLIC FILE
ASCERTAINED COMMUNITY ISSUES

1. EDUCATION, including the quality of public education; school busing; white flight; bilingual education; school violence; and the quality of college and adult education.
2. GOVERNMENT, including government spending; the provision of government services; taxes; general political debate by officials and candidates.
3. ENVIRONMENT, ENERGY & TRANSPORTATION, including natural disasters; pollution (especially air and water); the water crisis; and the effects of urban sprawl.
4. MINORITIES, WOMEN & AGING, including discrimination and other problems of racial minorities; women and senior citizens; the handicapped; homosexuals; and religious ethnic groups.
5. YOUTH & FAMILY, including issues regarding marriage; the changing role of the family; parenting; child rearing; and abuse.

CATEGORY: EDUCATION

Issue: Exxonmobil Bernard Harris Summer Science Camp Theme: "Quest For Life"
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: October 3, 2010

Description: The Bernard Harris Summer Science Camp is one of four signature educational programs of the Harris Foundation. Its aim? Make a difference in the lives of students in the U.S. These grassroots initiatives reach into some of the most economically disadvantaged schools in the country to give students hope for using education to move beyond their current environment.

Dr. Harris says, "It's rewarding to realize how many kids we can reach by providing a new and fun experience involving science while raising awareness about math and science careers."

At camp, students attend daily classes in natural science, engineering, mathematics, and technology. These are taught by professors of participating universities and secondary classroom teachers. Middle school students, working in teams of six, participate in interdisciplinary lab experiences that link physical and life sciences, math, engineering design, critical reading and writing, and community building.

Issue: Does Race to the Top Have a Future?
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: October 10, 2010

Description: The dust is still settling weeks after Race to the Top winners and losers were announced. A total of 12 applicants have now won in both phase 1 and phase 2 of the competition funded by the first stimulus package.

The Obama administration claims the 4.3 billion dollars education reform program will directly impact 13.6 million students and 980,000 teachers in 25,000 schools.

Despite reforms like this, a recently released survey done by Phi Delta Kappa International and the Gallup Organization reports that just 34% of those polled would give the president an A or B when grading his performance on education during his first 17 months in office. That compares to 45% in a poll one year ago.

And yet, in a recent interview with TBOOK, Education Secretary Arnie Duncan told me he's already planning to have more Race to the Top competitions. As you'll hear, he's already talking about a phase 3, phase 4, and even a phase 5.

Issue: Teen Read Week
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: October 10, 2010

Description: In other education news, research shows that teens who read for fun, and not just for school, score significantly higher on reading tests. While those who don't, lose critical reading skills important for academic and workplace success.

So, it's good to learn that teen library visits are up nationwide. This is the report from the Young Adult Library Services Association, a division of the American Library Association. And it comes as they announce their Teen Read Week going on this month.

The association says with so many options for entertainment, plus the large amount of schoolwork, busy distracted teens can often overlook reading for pleasure. So Teen Read Week is a time to remind teens that reading is fun, free, and can be done anytime and anywhere.

CATEGORY: EDUCATION (Cont'd)

Issue: Pilot Pre-K Literacy Program
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: October 10, 2010

Description: In related news, numerous studies show the link between vocabulary and early literacy skills, and academic achievement. The problem nationwide is the increasingly large number of children who enter kindergarten lacking these literacy skills.

For example in Ohio, Kindergarten Readiness Assessment Literacy test results show 56% of Cincinnati public school children struggle with literacy skills. And, one-third of children entering kindergarten will require intensive intervention to be successful. This is especially true for children whose families are considered low-income. These are "at-risk" predominantly minority children.

This is why the University of Cincinnati (one of the nation's leading urban research institutes), Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center (one of the top five pediatric hospitals in the country), and the Children's Home of Cincinnati have partnered to form Ohio's School Readiness Collaborative, or (SRC).

The program is taking a three-tiered approach. Its goals are to reach children who are at risk of illiteracy, identify early learning issues, and provide intense learning support.

The evidence-based theories suggested by the Ohio School Readiness Collaborative are ready for testing. They're prepared to begin a 12-month pilot program that will test its illiteracy intervention model in up to 400 children who are preparing to enter Cincinnati public schools as kindergarteners.

Issue: Alternative Education in Kentucky
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: October 17, 2010

Description: In related news, students with disabilities have returned to classrooms all across the country.

In the Midwest, Kentucky public schools are facing a number of challenges, and are trying to meet them by implementing alternative schools with alternative methods of teaching.

Issue: Education Headlines & Updates
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: October 17, 2010

Description: As school began last month we told you about the 10-billion dollar jobs bill congress approved to save about 160,000 education jobs. Despite that effort, some believe an estimated 135,000 teachers will be out of work this school year. Segun Eubanks, Director of Teacher Quality at NEA says the hiring of new teachers has slowed dramatically and fewer veteran educators are staying in the field for their entire careers. Eubanks says "unless we see some level of turnaround in the economy, it's likely to get tougher for new teachers to find jobs and for long-term sustainability."

Meanwhile, with the fall elections looming, it looks like lots of seats in congress are up for grabs. What could that mean for education policy and spending? Well, there's a chance representative John Kline of Minnesota could become chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee. Kline voted against both the stimulus and the recent edujobs bill. He'd like to see more money given to special education. Congressman Kline says he agrees with Education Secretary Arnie Duncan on expanding charter schools, and what he describes as the need to "break the tenure stranglehold... teachers unions have..."

CATEGORY: EDUCATION (Cont'd)

Issue: What Leaving No Child Behind Really Means

Program: The Best of Our Knowledge

Date: October 24, 2010

Description: As we've reported on several times in this program, the Obama administration is working with congress to try and reauthorize what's now termed the No Child Left Behind Law. When the renewal occurs, perhaps next year, it will then revert back to the original name, the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Our next guest is Lynda J. Katz, President of Landmark College in Vermont. Landmark caters to high-potential students with learning disabilities and attention deficit hyperactivity disorder.

In President Kat's commentary, "What Leaving No Child Behind Really Means", she says educators need to emphasize the importance of preparing teachers to support each child's individual learning style... and provide teachers the knowledge to educate students with learning disabilities.

Issue: "Access Stem" Improves Transitions to Stem Education and Careers

Program: The Best of Our Knowledge

Date: October 31, 2010

Description: AccessSTEM is a program operated by the University of Washington in Seattle. It works with educators and employers to make STEM education and careers more accessible to students with disabilities.

Using mentoring, peer support, and internships, AccessSTEM helps students successfully transition from one level of education to the next.

This comes on the heels of Disability Mentoring Day, a national event designed to give high school students with disabilities the chance to learn about specific careers by shadowing someone in the workplace.

TBOOK goes on location in and around the Seattle area to report on one component of the University of Washington program called DO IT – an acronym for Disabilities, Opportunities, Internetworking, and Technology.

Issue: Special Needs Music Education and Therapy

Program: The Best of Our Knowledge

Date: October 31, 2010

Description: Novel music therapy education is being developed and used to teach students with special needs, including those with autism.

These new techniques are using innovative software and the latest online technologies... some of it by our next guest, Dr. Liza Lee.

TBOOK's Greg Fry reports from the State University of New York – SUNY Ulster in Stone Ridge, New York..

CATEGORY: EDUCATION (Cont'd)

Issue: The Academic Minute "Why is the Sky Blue?"

Program: The Best of Our Knowledge

Date: October 31, 2010

Description: This week's episode features Dr. Nicholas Leadbeater, Assistant Professor of Chemistry at the University of Connecticut.

The Academic Minute is hosted by Dr. Lynn Pasquerella, a celebrated philosopher and medical enicist, and President of Mount Holyoke College.

Issue: President Barack Obama's Annual Back to School Speech

Program: The Best of Our Knowledge

Date: November 7, 2010

Description: A few weeks after school started, President Barack Obama delivered his annual back to school speech. He was at the Julia R. Masterman Laboratory and Demonstration School in Philadelphia, where about 600 students and faculty gathered to hear him.

Issue: Tales Out of School: Six Secrets from Successful Teachers
TBOOK Remembers John R. Stassburger

Program: The Best of Our Knowledge

Date: November 7, 2010

Description: With this show, we mark the passing of one of the country's best known defenders of the importance of a liberal education.

John Strassburger was the long-time President of Ursinus College in Pennsylvania... serving as its presidents for 15-years, from 1995 until earlier this year. He recently died of cancer at age 68.

We first spoke with Strassburger in April of 1998. It was on the occasion of the publishing of his paper – Tales Out of School: Six Secrets from Successful Teachers.

Back then, he had some important answers. Yet, more than 12-years later, educators and politicians are still debating "what works" to best education students. Therefore, in retrospect, this is an interesting listen.

Issue: Self-Education Creates Self-Confidence

Program: The Best of Our Knowledge

Date: November 7, 2010

Description: Another of the country's strong national voices on liberal education is the President of St. Lawrence University in New York, William L. Fox.

You might not be aware of it yet, but right now there's a war going on among Department of Education officials and educators, pitting the rights of private universities versus public universities.

CATEGORY: EDUCATION (Cont'd)

Issue: Character Matters: How to Help Our Children Develop Good Judgment, Integrity, and Other Essential Virtues

Program: The Best of Our Knowledge

Date: November 21, 2010

Description: Teen and student suicides are getting an extraordinary amount of media attention this Fall.

The issue has reignited the campaign against bullying. And in fact, last month was National Anti-Bullying Month in the U.S.

Many educators believe bullying is a national crisis. According to Department of Education statistics, one in three school children from grades six through 10 are affected by bullying and harassment.

It has prompted more and more schools and school districts to enforce year-around codes of conduct. This then brings the issue of character education forefront and center.

TBOOK found one of the most highly regarded national authorities on character education at the State University of New York at Cortland. Dr. Thomas Lickona is a developmental psychologist and professor of education.

Dr. Lickona has specialized in this field for over 40-years. He's the author of the bestselling classic, "Educating for Character: How Our Schools Can Teach Respect and Responsibility." Another of his highly acclaimed books is "Character Matters: How to Help Our Children Develop Good Judgment, Integrity, and Other Essential Virtues."

Dr. Lickona directs the Center for the Fourth and Fifth Rs (respect and responsibility), and he served on the advisory council of the Character Education Partnership, a national coalition working to promote character development.

Issue: Pint-Sized Eco-Warriors

Program: The Best of Our Knowledge

Date: November 21, 2010

Description: Speaking of parents (as we were in our last story) exerting their influence as positive role models, children certainly learn about character and ethics by watching adults.

If you have any contact with children, you understand they can become dogmatic about things. Give them a cause they can believe in, and they often beat you over the head with it.

This is never more apparent than when it comes to the environment and climate change. Many of today's youth are turning into a band of eco-police – spying on parents and denouncing their poor recycling habits.

So parents of the world listen and learn from this week's humorous guest commentator. Michael Odell is from Great Britain.

CATEGORY: EDUCATION (Cont'd)

- Issue: Character Matters: How to Help Our Children Develop Good Judgment, Integrity, and Other Essential Virtues (Part Two)
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: November 28, 2010
- Description: Anti-bullying organizations were galvanized into action these past weeks after a Rutgers college student committed suicide.
- Educators across the country are saying the increased suicide rate is demonstrating the need for more civility, especially when it comes to online privacy.
- Many schools have already implemented rules of conduct. And many more schools will now attempt to enforce year-around conduct codes.
- Character education has grown in popularity among educators and parents alike, though some research does question its effectiveness.
- One of the most highly regarded national authorities on character education is Dr. Thomas Lickona, a developmental psychologist and professor of education at the State University of New York at Cortland.
- Issue: Substitute Education for Lysol
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: November 28, 2010
- Description: Our previous story talked about teen suicide, and mentioned the cyberbullying-related suicide death at Rutgers. Our guest commentator explores that subject in more depth.
- Dr. Dawn Watkins writes that "before bathroom walls became virtual, a can of Lysol and a stiff brush could remove the nasty and vulgar insults that anonymous bullies scrawled.
- Watkins goes to say that while the graffiti could be humiliating to its targets, not everyone in the world could read those slurs with the simple click of their computer mouse. She says today – Lysol won't help clean the cyber-walls.
- Issue: The Academic Minute "Children and Technology"
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: November 28, 2010
- Description: This week's episode continues the relationship between children and technology theme, and features Dr. Nathan Freier, Assistant Professor of Human-Computer Interaction in the Department of Language, Literature, and Communication with a joint appointment in Information Technology at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

CATEGORY: EDUCATION (Cont'd)

Issue: President Obama Signs Executive Order to Renew and Enhance the White House Initiative on Educational Excellence for Hispanic Americans

Program: The Best of Our Knowledge

Date: December 5, 2010

Description: A national education summit was held not long ago in Washington, D.C. Its purpose – to find ways to increase educational access for Hispanic Americans, improve their lives, and help the US recapture the highest college graduation rate in the world by the end of this decade.

The forum was followed at the White House by the president signing an Executive Order to renew and enhance the White House initiative on educational excellence for Hispanic Americans.

Issue: Immigrant Education

Program: The Best of Our Knowledge

Date: December 5, 2010

Description: Just one day after the president signed his Hispanic Education Executive Order, a report came out from the American Council on Education.

Titled, "Minorities in Higher Education", it points out that many of the educational problems of the nation's Hispanic population come from the challenges Hispanic immigrants face. And it cautions that failing to take the needs of such immigrants into account "might lead to unsustainable reforms or unrealistic expectations."

According to the Council's report, influxes of immigrants with weak educational backgrounds, has emerged as a major challenge to the nation's efforts to get a larger share of its population through college.

Well, not only Hispanic education, but immigrant education as a whole, is certainly on the minds of teachers and state and local school systems all around the country. When a community experiences a significant rise in the number of school children who do not speak English, it can impact the very core of that local school.

To learn more how this actually works in practice, we visit educators in upstate New York – the capital district in and around Albany. But this is one example of what's going on in communities all across this nation.

Issue: Educational Headlines and Updates From the Word of Science and Space

Program: The Best of Our Knowledge

Date: December 19, 2010

Description: Remember playing with Lego's as a child? Well, a Lego Space Shuttle headed to orbit with the launch of the space shuttle STS-133 mission. NASA and the Lego Group signed a Space Act Agreement to spark children's interest in STEM – science, technology, engineering and math. Listen to the show to find out about NASA's educational materials in conjunction with this project.

Next, the International Space Station is celebrating ten years of humans living and working on board it.

And then another landmark is achieved as astronomers from 12 countries on six continents mark the 50th anniversary of the search for extraterrestrial intelligence, better known as SETI.

CATEGORY: EDUCATION (Cont'd)

Issue: Improving STEM Education Requires a Long Term Commitment
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: December 19, 2010

Description: In concert with our science-themed show today, earlier this year, "Time" magazine featured Thomas Edison, whose imaginative mind and the inventions he created, changed the course of a young America. It was Edison's inventions that helped lead the country into the 20th century through technological revolutions that created what our nation is today.

With thoughts on that, here's our guest commentator, Dr. Mel Schiavelli, President and CEO of Harrisburg University of Science and Technology.

Issue: "The Short Bus: A Journey Beyond Normal"
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: December 26, 2010

Description: Last month, the U.S. celebrated the 35th anniversary of the law now known as the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, or IDEA.

When President Gerald Ford signed the original act at the end of 1975, nearly 1.8 million youth with disabilities were excluded from most public schools. Today, the landmark civil rights measure provides America's 6.6 million children with disabilities the right to public education.

Now nearly 60% of students with disabilities spend 80% of their school day in general education classrooms alongside their nondisabled peers. But it wasn't always that way.

Our first guest, Jonathan Mooney, dropped out of school for awhile after being labeled severely dyslexic and ADHD in grade school. Yet, he went on to graduate from Brown University with honors, in English no less.

CATEGORY: GOVERNMENT

Issue: Does Race to the Top Have a Future?
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: October 10, 2010

Description: The dust is still settling weeks after Race to the Top winners and losers were announced. A total of 12 applicants have now won in both phase 1 and phase 2 of the competition funded by the first stimulus package.

The Obama administration claims the 4.3 billion dollars education reform program will directly impact 13.6 million students and 980,000 teachers in 25,000 schools.

Despite reforms like this, a recently released survey done by Phi Delta Kappa International and the Gallup Organization reports that just 34% of those polled would give the president an A or B when grading his performance on education during his first 17 months in office. That compares to 45% in a poll one year ago.

And yet, in a recent interview with TBOOK, Education Secretary Arnie Duncan told me he's already planning to have more Race to the Top competitions. As you'll hear, he's already talking about a phase 3, phase 4, and even a phase 5.

Issue: Education Headlines & Updates
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: October 17, 2010

Description: As school began last month we told you about the 10-billion dollar jobs bill congress approved to save about 160,000 education jobs. Despite that effort, some believe an estimated 135,000 teachers will be out of work this school year. Segun Eubanks, Director of Teacher Quality at NEA says the hiring of new teachers has slowed dramatically and fewer veteran educators are staying in the field for their entire careers. Eubanks says "unless we see some level of turnaround in the economy, it's likely to get tougher for new teachers to find jobs and for long-term sustainability."

Meanwhile, with the fall elections looming, it looks like lots of seats in congress are up for grabs. What could that mean for education policy and spending? Well, there's a chance representative John Kline of Minnesota could become chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee. Kline voted against both the stimulus and the recent edujobs bill. He'd like to see more money given to special education. Congressman Kline says he agrees with Education Secretary Arnie Duncan on expanding charter schools, and what he describes as the need to "break the tenure stranglehold... teachers unions have..."

Issue: What Leaving No Child Behind Really Means
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: October 24, 2010

Description: As we've reported on several times in this program, the Obama administration is working with congress to try and reauthorize what's now termed the No Child Left Behind Law. When the renewal occurs, perhaps next year, it will then revert back to the original name, the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Our next guest is Lynda J. Katz, President of Landmark College in Vermont. Landmark caters to high-potential students with learning disabilities and attention deficit hyperactivity disorder.

In President Kat's commentary, "What Leaving No Child Behind Really Means", she says educators need to emphasize the importance of preparing teachers to support each child's individual learning style... and provide teachers the knowledge to educate students with learning disabilities.

CATEGORY: GOVERNMENT (Cont'd)

Issue: President Obama Signs Executive Order to Renew and Enhance the White House Initiative on Educational Excellence for Hispanic Americans

Program: The Best of Our Knowledge

Date: December 5, 2010

Description: A national education summit was held not long ago in Washington, D.C. Its purpose – to find ways to increase educational access for Hispanic Americans, improve their lives, and help the US recapture the highest college graduation rate in the world by the end of this decade.

The forum was followed at the White House by the president signing an Executive Order to renew and enhance the White House initiative on educational excellence for Hispanic Americans.

CATEGORY: ENVIRONMENT, ENERGY & TRANSPORTATION

Issue: Astronomers Find New Planet That Could Support Life
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: November 14, 2010

Description: Our first story is ripped right out of today's headlines.

You may have heard that astronomers unveiled a new candidate in their search for an Earth-like planet outside our solar system in the so-called "habitable zone." That's an area with conditions that could support life, like where Earth resides in its orbit.

Study co-leader, Steven Vogt, is from the University of California-Santa Cruz. Based on star surveys and similar discoveries of multiple planet solar systems nearby, Dr. Vogt estimates that 20 to 40 billion worlds orbit the habitable zones of their stars in our own Milky Way.

And that's where our research story is headed... to the Milky Way. It's titled, "MIPSGAL Survey and the Discovery of Debris Disk Candidates." MIPSGAL (which stands for Multi-Band Imaging Photometer for Spitzer) is an extensive infrared survey of the galactic plane of the Milky Way, our galaxy, using the Spitzer Space Telescope.

Astronomers use infrared light (light we cannot see) to look at objects cooler than stars, and view more distant regions, such as the center of our galaxy.

To help us understand this, we spoke with Dr. Sachindev Shenoy, an astronomer and NASA postdoctoral fellow at the NASA Ames Research Center in California.

Issue: Pint-Sized Eco-Warriors
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: November 21, 2010

Description: Speaking of parents (as we were in our last story) exerting their influence as positive role models, children certainly learn about character and ethics by watching adults.

If you have any contact with children, you understand they can become dogmatic about things. Give them a cause they can believe in, and they often beat you over the head with it.

This is never more apparent than when it comes to the environment and climate change. Many of today's youth are turning into a band of eco-police – spying on parents and denouncing their poor recycling habits.

So parents of the world listen and learn from this week's humorous guest commentator. Michael Odell is from Great Britain.

Issue: Oceans and Climate Change
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: November 21, 2010

Description: This week's Academic Minute features Dr. James Carlton, Professor of Marine Sciences and Director of the Williams College Mystic Seaport Maritime Studies Program.

CATEGORY: ENVIRONMENT, ENERGY & TRANSPORTATION (Cont'd)

- Issue: Titan is a Prebiotic Laboratory: Development of Complex Organics in an Abiotic Environment (Part One)
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: December 12, 2010
- Description: Many listeners may have been as excited as we were to see the detailed pictures of the comet Harley 2 taken by NASA's EPOXI mission during its close encounter with the comet last month.
- Jets of melting ice streamed from both ends of the comet as the Deep Impact probe gave humans only our fifth close look at a comet.
- Comets are essentially frozen leftovers from the dawn of the solar system some 4.6 billion years ago. Many scientists believe they could have delivered water and life's early ingredients, organic chemicals, to earth's oceans during frequent impacts.
- While that mission took five years to reach its point of intersection with the comet... another mission, Cassini, has been underway for 13-years and has "parked" itself near Saturn investigating its largest moon, Titan.
- Titan has a diameter roughly 50% larger than Earth's moon, and is 80% more massive. It's the second-largest moon in the solar system, and is larger by volume than the planet Mercury.
- Findings from the Cassini spacecraft indicate that Titan has an environment that resembles Earth's at the time that life first got a foothold.
- Our guest scientist is Dr. mark Smith, a Professor in the Department of Chemistry at the University of Arizona in Tucson. Dr. Smith tells TBOOK that some of his work to learn more about Titan is collaborative with the Cassini mission.
- Issue: The Academic Minute "Life on Earth's Moon?"
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: December 12, 2010
- Description: This week's episode features Dr. M. Darby Dyar, Associate Professor of Astronomy, Mount Holyoke College.

CATEGORY: ENVIRONMENT, ENERGY & TRANSPORTATION (Cont'd)

Issue: Titan is a Prebiotic Laboratory: Development of Complex Organics in an Abiotic Environment (Part Two)

Program: The Best of Our Knowledge

Date: December 19, 2010

Description: And that brings us to our next story. In many respects, Saturn's largest moon, Titan, is one of the most Earth-like worlds found to date. With its thick atmosphere and organic-rich chemistry, Titan resembles a frozen version of Earth, several billion years ago, before life began pumping oxygen into the atmosphere.

Last week, we learned that Titan is of great interest to scientists (and our next guest) because it has a substantial, active atmosphere. Since the arrival of the Cassini mission six years ago, many of Titan's secrets have been revealed, including rivers and lakes of liquid ethane and methane which form clouds and rain.

An update from last week's show... NASA Program Manager, Bob Mitchell, says the Cassini spacecraft is behaving exactly as it should since it went into that "safe mode" we told you about. He's confident by the time this show airs, that they'll restore the software from the backup and restart it without problems.

This week, we wrap up our story about Titan, including a discussion about the future of such scientific missions, and cost factors for trying to find the origins of life.

CATEGORY: MINORITIES, WOMEN & AGING

Issue: National Disability Employment Awareness Month
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: October 17, 2010

Description: "Talent has no boundaries: workforce diversity includes workers with disabilities."

That's this year's official theme for October's National Disability Employment Awareness Month.

The theme was chosen to show the public that workers with disabilities have valuable skills and talents that can and are used in the workplace.

More and more, people are finding help entering the workplace by bringing a friend with them... a four legged friend, but not as a pet. These are highly trained service dogs which learn up to 90 commands.

One of the premiere non-profits doing this training is Assistance Dogs of the West (ADW) in Santa Fe, New Mexico. Through educational and vocational programs, ADW provides trained assistance dogs to people with disabilities in order to increase their independence and self-reliance. Plus, Assistance Dogs of the West teaches students to train dogs to help people.

This week, TBOOK talks with ADW Executive Director, Carolyn Clark Beedle, and Student Trainer, Kaila Mathews.

Next week, and ADW clients who is in training with her service dog describes the real-life benefits she's deriving. And we also talk about returning veterans and their dogs.

Issue: Making Connections: Assistance Dogs of the West
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: October 24, 2010

Description: It's hoped the annual celebration of Disability Employment Awareness Month heightens consciousness, while recognizing the contributions of Americans with disabilities to both the workforce and to society.

During October, tribute is paid to the accomplishments of men and women with disabilities whose work helps keep the nation's economy strong... and by reaffirming their commitment to ensure equal opportunity for everyone.

The effort to educate the public concerning issues related to disability and employment began as far back as 1945 when congress enacted a public law declaring (at that time) the first week of October for recognizing the need to employ persons with disabilities.

Fast forward to just last year, and a report showed that the portion of the labor force with disabilities has grown to some 23%. So then it may come as a surprise to learn that just last month congress finally passed legislation that removed the term "mental retardation" from federal laws. The phrase is now "an individual with an intellectual disability" that goes into all existing and future health, education and labor laws.

Which brings us to our feature story. Assistance Dogs of the West has the largest and most progressive service dog education program in the U.S.

Last week we learned that ADW trains dogs for people with physical, psychiatric, and emotional disabilities. We spoke with one of the student trainers. They range in age from 8 to 60. Some of the students themselves are at-risk, or have some form of disability. They teach dogs 90 commands.

CATEGORY: MINORITIES, WOMEN & AGING (Cont'd)

Issue: Making Connections: Assistance Dogs of the West (Continued)
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: October 24, 2010

Description: Students have been helping ADW in Santa Fe, NM train service dogs since 1995. Their student programs run year-around, and in many cases have a one dog to one student ratio. ADW features as many as seven in-school and after-school programs with about 130 student trainers. About 40 student trainers for students who are "at-risk" encompass another four daytime and after-school programs. And there are another three locations with 40 student trainers for students with disabilities. There are yet other programs where all students are mixed. We also learned last week that it costs a total of $20,000 to train and graduate each dog.

Issue: President Obama Signs Executive Order to Renew and Enhance the White House Initiative on Educational Excellence for Hispanic Americans
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: December 5, 2010

Description: A national education summit was held not long ago in Washington, D.C. Its purpose – to find ways to increase educational access for Hispanic Americans, improve their lives, and help the US recapture the highest college graduation rate in the world by the end of this decade.

The forum was followed at the White House by the president signing an Executive Order to renew and enhance the White House initiative on educational excellence for Hispanic Americans.

Issue: Immigrant Education
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: December 5, 2010

Description: Just one day after the president signed his Hispanic Education Executive Order, a report came out from the American Council on Education.

Titled, "Minorities in Higher Education", it points out that many of the educational problems of the nation's Hispanic population come from the challenges Hispanic immigrants face. And it cautions that failing to take the needs of such immigrants into account "might lead to unsustainable reforms or unrealistic expectations."

According to the Council's report, influxes of immigrants with weak educational backgrounds, has emerged as a major challenge to the nation's efforts to get a larger share of its population through college.

Well, not only Hispanic education, but immigrant education as a whole, is certainly on the minds of teachers and state and local school systems all around the country. When a community experiences a significant rise in the number of school children who do not speak English, it can impact the very core of that local school.

To learn more how this actually works in practice, we visit educators in upstate New York – the capital district in and around Albany. But this is one example of what's going on in communities all across this nation.

CATEGORY: YOUTH & FAMILY

Issue: Exxonmobil Bernard Harris Summer Science Camp Theme: "Quest For Life"
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: October 3, 2010

Description: The Bernard Harris Summer Science Camp is one of four signature educational programs of the Harris Foundation. Its aim? Make a difference in the lives of students in the U.S. These grassroots initiatives reach into some of the most economically disadvantaged schools in the country to give students hope for using education to move beyond their current environment.

Dr. Harris says, "It's rewarding to realize how many kids we can reach by providing a new and fun experience involving science while raising awareness about math and science careers."

At camp, students attend daily classes in natural science, engineering, mathematics, and technology. These are taught by professors of participating universities and secondary classroom teachers. Middle school students, working in teams of six, participate in interdisciplinary lab experiences that link physical and life sciences, math, engineering design, critical reading and writing, and community building.

Issue: Teen Read Week
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: October 10, 2010

Description: In other education news, research shows that teens who read for fun, and not just for school, score significantly higher on reading tests. While those who don't, lose critical reading skills important for academic and workplace success.

So, it's good to learn that teen library visits are up nationwide. This is the report from the Young Adult Library Services Association, a division of the American Library Association. And it comes as they announce their Teen Read Week going on this month.

The association says with so many options for entertainment, plus the large amount of schoolwork, busy distracted teens can often overlook reading for pleasure. So Teen Read Week is a time to remind teens that reading is fun, free, and can be done anytime and anywhere.

CATEGORY: YOUTH & FAMILY (Cont'd)

Issue: Pilot Pre-K Literacy Program
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: October 10, 2010

Description: In related news, numerous studies show the link between vocabulary and early literacy skills, and academic achievement. The problem nationwide is the increasingly large number of children who enter kindergarten lacking these literacy skills.

For example in Ohio, Kindergarten Readiness Assessment Literacy test results show 56% of Cincinnati public school children struggle with literacy skills. And, one-third of children entering kindergarten will require intensive intervention to be successful. This is especially true for children whose families are considered low-income. These are "at-risk" predominantly minority children.

This is why the University of Cincinnati (one of the nation's leading urban research institutes), Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center (one of the top five pediatric hospitals in the country), and the Children's Home of Cincinnati have partnered to form Ohio's School Readiness Collaborative, or (SRC).

The program is taking a three-tiered approach. Its goals are to reach children who are at risk of illiteracy, identify early learning issues, and provide intense learning support.

The evidence-based theories suggested by the Ohio School Readiness Collaborative are ready for testing. They're prepared to begin a 12-month pilot program that will test its illiteracy intervention model in up to 400 children who are preparing to enter Cincinnati public schools as kindergarteners.

Issue: Character Matters: How to Help Our Children Develop Good Judgment, Integrity, and Other Essential Virtues
Program: The Best of Our Knowledge
Date: November 21, 2010

Description: Teen and student suicides are getting an extraordinary amount of media attention this Fall.

The issue has reignited the campaign against bullying. And in fact, last month was National Anti-Bullying Month in the U.S.

Many educators believe bullying is a national crisis. According to Department of Education statistics, one in three school children from grades six through 10 are affected by bullying and harassment.

It has prompted more and more schools and school districts to enforce year-around codes of conduct. This then brings the issue of character education forefront and center.

TBOOK found one of the most highly regarded national authorities on character education at the State University of New York at Cortland. Dr. Thomas Lickona is a developmental psychologist and professor of education.

Dr. Lickona has specialized in this field for over 40-years. He's the author of the bestselling classic, "Educating for Character: How Our Schools Can Teach Respect and Responsibility." Another of his highly acclaimed books is "Character Matters: How to Help Our Children Develop Good Judgment, Integrity, and Other Essential Virtues."

Dr. Lickona directs the Center for the Fourth and Fifth Rs (respect and responsibility), and he served on the advisory council of the Character Education Partnership, a national coalition working to promote character development.

CATEGORY: YOUTH & FAMILY (Cont'd)

Issue: Character Matters: How to Help Our Children Develop Good Judgment, Integrity, and Other Essential Virtues (Part Two)

Program: The Best of Our Knowledge

Date: November 28, 2010

Description: Anti-bullying organizations were galvanized into action these past weeks after a Rutgers college student committed suicide.

Educators across the country are saying the increased suicide rate is demonstrating the need for more civility, especially when it comes to online privacy.

Many schools have already implemented rules of conduct. And many more schools will now attempt to enforce year-around conduct codes.

Character education has grown in popularity among educators and parents alike, though some research does question its effectiveness.

One of the most highly regarded national authorities on character education is Dr. Thomas Lickona, a developmental psychologist and professor of education at the State University of New York at Cortland.

51%

KDND-FM HD2
Saturdays, 7:30A-8:00A

Description

Over half the people in the world are women. What women do affects us all. Now, there's a radio program that takes a serious and intelligent look on society's impact on women and their impact on society. 51% is a weekly program of illuminating features and interviews focusing on issues of particular concern to women.

PUBLIC FILE
ASCERTAINED COMMUNITY ISSUES

1. EDUCATION, including the quality of public education; school busing; white flight; bilingual education; school violence; and the quality of college and adult education.
2. ECONOMY, including inflation; economic development; economic opportunity; welfare; unemployment; job training; labor relations; and consumer issues.
3. GOVERNMENT, including government spending; the provision of government services; taxes; general political debate by officials and candidates.
4. HEALTH, including quality of medical facilities; national health programs; nutrition; physical fitness; mental health; preventative health care; and medical malpractice.
5. MINORITIES, WOMEN & AGING, including discrimination and other problems of racial minorities; women and senior citizens; the handicapped; homosexuals; and religious ethnic groups.
6. YOUTH & FAMILY, including issues regarding marriage; the changing role of the family; parenting; child rearing; and abuse.

CATEGORY: EDUCATION

Program: 51%
Date: October 3, 2010

Description: Elizabeth Gilbert's Eat Pray Love was a sensation – a book that was a happy combination of travel, guilt free dining, enlightenment and romance. But the part of the story set in India is one that, according to a writer who spent years in that ashram, creates a mystique around Siddha Yoga that just isn't deserved. Marta Szabo, author of "The Guru Looked Good", was a Siddha Yoga insider; she became an assistant to Gurumayi, the master described as being in "uninterrupted identification with her Supreme Self. In her book, Szabo describes a very human guru who can be petty and generous, cruel and thoughtful. And since she wrote the book, Szabo's been the target of some bitter mail from Siddha Yoga followers who feel she's betrayed them.

Marta Szabo is the author of "The Guru Looked Good." She is co-director of the Authentic Writing Workshop in Woodstock, NY. You can find out more at Authenticwriting.com.

Coming up, are women's colleges still relevant? And we'll get into the mind of the founder of a creative dance company.

A recent survey showed that women are now getting PhD's in higher numbers than men. Those advanced degrees can be very important – and so are the colleges where you pursue your education. As prices continue to climb, students and parents are demanding that they get much more than a degree from today's colleges and universities. Author Selena Rezvani takes a look at the role of all-women colleges in the 21st century.

Finally, we're going to take an inside look at Weberdance – a contemporary dance company. It's narrated by founder and artistic director Dr. Jody Weber. She offers us a glimpse into the world behind an art form that, for many of us, is just plain baffling.

Program: 51%
Date: October 31, 2010

Description: Ghosts have always been wildly popular. From the Victorian ghost tales to today's modern ghosthunter shows, we've always been looking for whatever goes bump in the night. This year, we're featuring a couple of first hand ghost stories. First, Jasmyn Belcher takes us on a ghost hunt in rural New York.

Coming up, I go on a ghost hunt of my own... and we'll hear from a woman who fled Manhattan to search for fairies.

I grew up with ghost stories... whether it was searching for the ghost my cousins and I were told haunted our family's summer cottage, or my mom's first person accounts of things she just couldn't explain. So when I got a chance to go to a haunted house in New York's Hudson Valley, I jumped at the chance.

And finally, a far more ambitious search. Signe Pike had a great job at a publishing company in New York City. But one day she packed her bags and began a tour of the UK... she was searching for fairies. And that search led to a very entertaining book.

CATEGORY: EDUCATION (Cont'd)

Program: 51%
Date: November 7, 2010

Description: Kathy Stevens is the founder and director of Catskill Animal Sanctuary, an 80 acre farm in the Hudson River Valley that has provided shelter for more than 1,700 animals since 2001. Many of them have found permanent homes. Stevens, while expanding the farm, creating a new vegan cuisine program and running a summer camp, has written a new book called "Animal Camp." It begins with the story of three misfit animals – a pig, a cow and a horse, who bond during a summer at what Stevens dubs the animal camp. But it's a book with a serious message... and some of it may disturb you.

Kathy Stevens is founder and director of the Catskill Animal Sanctuary in New York. Her new book is Animal Camp and you can find out more at the sanctuary website, casanctuary.org.

Coming up, why networking isn't just for the guys... and what the NY Times obit section can tell you about women.

If you're in the corporate world, it can be tough to convince yourself of the importance of networking with other women. Yet what outsiders see as a glorified coffee break can, according to Selene Razvani, can be a valuable tool for professional development. And more companies are seeing it that way.

And finally, our personal finance expert Manisha Thakor has some thoughts on what the obit section tells us about what we value.

CATEGORY: ECONOMY

Program: 51%
Date: November 21, 2010

Description: Zaineb Salbi is the founder of Women for Women International. She's traveled to war torn parts of the world and done things that people told her were incredibly brave. But when I spoke with her at the Omega women and power conference, she told me that the bravest thing she had to do was tell people about her childhood – and about the man she was told to consider her uncle – Saddam Hussein. Her father was Saddam's pilot and then became a government official. And that, she feared, was who people would see if she admitted that past.

Zaineb Salbi is the founder of Women for Women International and the author of Between Two Worlds, a memoir of her life growing up under the shadow of Saddam Hussein.

Coming up, an effort to grow Haiti's food at home – tips for a secure retirement – and a Thanksgiving with no turkey.

Most farmers in Haiti have abandoned rural areas over the past 50 years to go live in the city. But one community in the Central Plateau has managed to restore agriculture and even bring back native crops. Ruxandra Guidi reports on some young Haitians who are choosing to stay in the countryside and help rebuild their country through sustainable agriculture.

Have you thought about your own future? Do you save for retirement? Do you even know how you should do it or how much you need? Our personal finance expert, Manisha Thakor, has some advice on how to be golden in your golden years..

And finally, with Thanksgiving coming up... a lot of us are thinking about prepping the big turkey. Some people will be eating Tofurky instead. They're part of the growing number of vegetarians and vegans... whether they're concerned about the safety of our food, the environmental impact of factory farms or choosing a plant based diet because of decision not to eat animals. The food industry is also changing to attract those new diet choices... and one result is Tofurkey. It's a meat substitute made out of tofu. Rebecca Williams got a cooking lesson from a devoted Tofurkey fan and her meat-eating boyfriend.

Program: 51%
Date: November 28, 2010

Description: It's been a rough couple of years for most of us – and a growing number of women find themselves the main breadwinners. Yet not only do they make less than their male peers, they're often not at all sure how to manage their finances. Our personal financial expert, Manisha Thakor, has launched a new program aimed at empowering women to not only get a handle on their finances, but do it with confidence.

Coming up, when is the last time you negotiated your salary? If your answer is never, you're not alone. We'll tell you why. And we'll hear about life after you ditch the boss and go it on your own.

Most men consider it a part of the hiring process to negotiate their salary with a new employer. If that surprises you, you're like most women. Whether it's because women are taught to be nice, not to make waves, or because they simply don't know how to negotiate, the fact is that women seldom speak up when they're in line for a new job. Selena Rezvani, author of The Next Generation of Women Leaders, wants to know how to change that.

CATEGORY: ECONOMY (Cont'd)

Program: 51%
Date: December 5, 2010

Description: Feminism seems to be evolving – and part of the reason for that is the Internet. It's never been easier to connect, to discuss, to organize – and one of the earliest spots on the web for women was feminist.com. Founder Marianne Schnall, who's just put out a new book featuring some of the most prominent women she's interviewed over the years, stopped in to reflect on 15 years as host of a major feminist gathering place.

Coming up, Manisha Thakor looks at a changing employment landscape. And we'll meet the founders of a theatre company who were inspired by "Half the Sky".

The recession has turned many of our work lives upside down. Whether you've changed fields, dug in to your current job for the long haul, or struck out on your own, we're all seeing the changes. Manisha Thakor, founder of the Women's Financial Literacy Initiative, has some thoughts on the future.

Program: 51%
Date: December 12, 2010

Description: Women Without Borders is an organization we've introduced you to before. Founder Edit Schlaffer is a believer in communication breaking down barriers – she's the one who sponsored a joint speaking tour by the mother of a man who died in the 9-11 attacks in NY, and the mother of a man accused of helping plan those attacks. Now Women Without Borders is not only expanding into the US, but creating a communications network using new media. We sat together on a warm afternoon this past fall at the Omega Women and Power Conference.

Coming up, why the best place to advance your career might be overseas. Plus small farms may be dwindling in number, but the ones that are left are increasingly being run by women.

Moving up the career ladder can be a hard climb – particularly for many women. Selena Rezvani explains why working abroad may be the key to kickstarting your career.

And finally, more women are owning and running farms. That's according to the latest USDA census data. The number of women who run farms is up 19% nationwide. Reporter Ryan Morden profiles an organic farmer in Upstate New York who's an example of how the face of farming is changing.

CATEGORY: ECONOMY (Cont'd)

Program: 51%
Date: December 19, 2010

Description: Attempted suicide can be the ultimate act of desperation – and in rural Afghanistan, there's a growing epidemic of women setting themselves on fire in an effort to escape lives they find unbearable. Rachel Reid is a researcher for Human Rights Watch. She has been monitoring the situation, and Human Rights Watch is working with the Afghan government to try to create policies that offer women hope for the future.

Coming up, living beyond your means can sneak up on you – our personal finance expert has the warning signs. And we'll profile an actor whose creativity, and her passion for progressive causes, work side by side.

As the experts tell us the economy is recovering, many of us are cautiously loosening our stranglehold on our wallets... particularly at this time of year. And that may be a good thing, in moderation. But personal finance expert Manisha Thakor says if you're shopping all year long, you may be a victim of an insidious intruder.

And finally, Academy Award winner Susan Sarandon plays two very different roles – actress and activist. Yet she says they share the common trait of imagination – she is able to imagine herself in someone else's shoes – and wants to help them. Nancy Greenleese has this profile.

CATEGORY: GOVERNMENT

Program: 51%
Date: October 10, 2010

Description: 200 years ago, Shawnee Chief Tecumseh led armed resistance against the US government's efforts to take his tribe's land along the Ohio River Valley. Now, the Coeur d'Alene tribe is using modern weapons to hold on to what's left. Peggy Berryhill visited the tribe, where traditional boundaries aren't measured by landmarks – but by language.

That is part of the We Shall Remain project produced by Native Public Media in cooperation with the National Federation of Community Broadcasters.

Coming up, a dance company that invites you to learn to be a superhero. And thoughts on the importance of touch.

Elizabeth Streb is a controversial figure in the dance world – and it's no wonder. Her movement dismisses what she calls "foot movement" in favor of bruising, bold leaps, falls and crashes. Her new book is called, "How To Become An Extreme Action Hero."

Finally, writer Nancy Foote has shared her memories, both painful and perfect, of a difficult childhood and the people who have shaped her. Today, she talks about the importance of touch – not just for connection, but for healing.

Program: 51%
Date: November 14, 2010

Description: Whether you get your news from cable or satellite television, one thing hasn't changed – mainstream media is still controlled by men. Despite the women behind the anchor desks, a group whose ranks have grown steadily, few women are in the very top positions or, perhaps more importantly, on the Boards of Directors of the major networks and cable news stations. Pat Mitchell is one of the first – she was the president and CEO of PBS, the first woman and first producer and journalist to hold the position. Pat Mitchell is now president and CEO of the Paley Center for Media and when we met at this fall's Omega Women and Power Conference, she said she's convinced there's a media revolution about to begin.

Coming up, the woman who's helping the children of Uganda remember how to be children.

During more than twenty years of civil war in Uganda, more than 35,000 children were abducted, and trained to be soldiers for the rebel forces. Jane Ekayo, a trauma Counselor featured in the documentary "Children of War" (produced and directed by Bryan Single), counsels former child soldiers as they try to transition back to their families. UNICEF radio reports.

And finally, Selena Rezvani has some thoughts on how we measure women's success. There are plenty of magazines that like to tell us about women at the top – but maybe it would mean more to us to hear about the women who are pushing their way up from the middle of the pack.

CATEGORY: GOVERNMENT (Cont'd)

Program: 51%
Date: December 19, 2010

Description: Attempted suicide can be the ultimate act of desperation – and in rural Afghanistan, there's a growing epidemic of women setting themselves on fire in an effort to escape lives they find unbearable. Rachel Reid is a researcher for Human Rights Watch. She has been monitoring the situation, and Human Rights Watch is working with the Afghan government to try to create policies that offer women hope for the future.

Coming up, living beyond your means can sneak up on you – our personal finance expert has the warning signs. And we'll profile an actor whose creativity, and her passion for progressive causes, work side by side.

As the experts tell us the economy is recovering, many of us are cautiously loosening our stranglehold on our wallets... particularly at this time of year. And that may be a good thing, in moderation. But personal finance expert Manisha Thakor says if you're shopping all year long, you may be a victim of an insidious intruder.

And finally, Academy Award winner Susan Sarandon plays two very different roles – actress and activist. Yet she says they share the common trait of imagination – she is able to imagine herself in someone else's shoes – and wants to help them. Nancy Greenleese has this profile.

Program: 51%
Date: December 26, 2010

Description: You undoubtedly know about the underground railroad – that busy, secret effort to free American slaves. What you may not know is some of the spirituals and Christmas songs we know were passing important information to people waiting for their chance to escape. Shannon Service spoke with a teacher named as a Negro Spiritual Keeper about that secret code.

Taiwo Kujichagulia-Seitu is an Oakland-based teacher and was named a Negro Spiritual Keeper by Friends of the Negro Spiritual. She was interviewed by Shannon Service.

Next, let's travel to India, where President Obama's visit highlighted an important fact. The country has one of the fastest growing economies in the world. But according to the Global Hunger Index, it is also true that more than 40% of the world's underweight children live in India. Sometimes, the only way these kids – and their parents – survive is through handouts. Restaurant owners in the city of Ahmedabad have come up with a novel way of feeding the poor, and still making a profit. Jill Ryan has the story.

Coming up, it's cold – but that doesn't mean you can't get outside and enjoy it. Really! Plus some natural wonders and why one of the world's oldest instruments is still our favorite for holiday music.

We all know some of those people who just don't seem to care how cold it gets – they go out for walks, even runs, in sub zero temperatures. Are they crazy? Probably not – in fact, they're probably happier. Suzanne Peeko reports.

And don't forget – winter can be spectacularly beautiful... especially at Glacier National Park. Glacier is magnificent in summer, grand in the fall, but the 100-year-old park comes into its own in the deepest part of winter.

CATEGORY: HEALTH

Program: 51%
Date: October 3, 2010

Description: Elizabeth Gilbert's Eat Pray Love was a sensation – a book that was a happy combination of travel, guilt free dining, enlightenment and romance. But the part of the story set in India is one that, according to a writer who spent years in that ashram, creates a mystique around Siddha Yoga that just isn't deserved. Marta Szabo, author of "The Guru Looked Good", was a Siddha Yoga insider; she became an assistant to Gurumayi, the master described as being in "uninterrupted identification with her Supreme Self. In her book, Szabo describes a very human guru who can be petty and generous, cruel and thoughtful. And since she wrote the book, Szabo's been the target of some bitter mail from Siddha Yoga followers who feel she's betrayed them.

Marta Szabo is the author of "The Guru Looked Good." She is co-director of the Authentic Writing Workshop in Woodstock, NY. You can find out more at Authenticwriting.com.

Coming up, are women's colleges still relevant? And we'll get into the mind of the founder of a creative dance company.

A recent survey showed that women are now getting PhD's in higher numbers than men. Those advanced degrees can be very important – and so are the colleges where you pursue your education. As prices continue to climb, students and parents are demanding that they get much more than a degree from today's colleges and universities. Author Selena Rezvani takes a look at the role of all-women colleges in the 21st century.

Finally, we're going to take an inside look at Weberdance – a contemporary dance company. It's narrated by founder and artistic director Dr. Jody Weber. She offers us a glimpse into the world behind an art form that, for many of us, is just plain baffling.

Program: 51%
Date: October 10, 2010

Description: 200 years ago, Shawnee Chief Tecumseh led armed resistance against the US government's efforts to take his tribe's land along the Ohio River Valley. Now, the Coeur d'Alene tribe is using modern weapons to hold on to what's left. Peggy Berryhill visited the tribe, where traditional boundaries aren't measured by landmarks – but by language.

That is part of the We Shall Remain project produced by Native Public Media in cooperation with the National Federation of Community Broadcasters.

Coming up, a dance company that invites you to learn to be a superhero. And thoughts on the importance of touch.

Elizabeth Streb is a controversial figure in the dance world – and it's no wonder. Her movement dismisses what she calls "foot movement" in favor of bruising, bold leaps, falls and crashes. Her new book is called, "How To Become An Extreme Action Hero."

Finally, writer Nancy Foote has shared her memories, both painful and perfect, of a difficult childhood and the people who have shaped her. Today, she talks about the importance of touch – not just for connection, but for healing.

CATEGORY: HEALTH (Cont'd)

Program: 51%
Date: October 24, 2010

Description: A University of Vermont researcher has just published the largest breast cancer surgery study ever done. The study focuses on a procedure called the sentinel node biopsy and 51%'s Pat Bradley spoke with the lead researcher, UVM surgeon Dr. David Krag.

Coming up, a makeup company has launched a website that collects women's cancer stories. And one writer remembers what living with cancer was like before that ubiquitous pink ribbon.

If you or someone you know has dealt with cancer, you know how lonely it can be. There's a place called the pastures in Western Massachusetts that calls itself a gathering place for women with cancer. They're launching the Pastures Retreat Program, the Pastures fund and face forward: the Jane Iredale walk for the Pastures Fund. Correspondent Bob Barrett spoke with Jane Iredale, the founder of a make-up line who's donated a grant toward the new retreat program.

And finally, writer Cheryl Ann Milsap talks about how the power of pink has transformed our understanding of breast cancer.

Program: 51%
Date: December 26, 2010

Description: You undoubtedly know about the underground railroad – that busy, secret effort to free American slaves. What you may not know is some of the spirituals and Christmas songs we know were passing important information to people waiting for their chance to escape. Shannon Service spoke with a teacher named as a Negro Spiritual Keeper about that secret code.

Taiwo Kujichagulia-Seitu is an Oakland-based teacher and was named a Negro Spiritual Keeper by Friends of the Negro Spiritual. She was interviewed by Shannon Service.

Next, let's travel to India, where President Obama's visit highlighted an important fact. The country has one of the fastest growing economies in the world. But according to the Global Hunger Index, it is also true that more than 40% of the world's underweight children live in India. Sometimes, the only way these kids – and their parents – survive is through handouts. Restaurant owners in the city of Ahmedabad have come up with a novel way of feeding the poor, and still making a profit. Jill Ryan has the story.

Coming up, it's cold – but that doesn't mean you can't get outside and enjoy it. Really! Plus some natural wonders and why one of the world's oldest instruments is still our favorite for holiday music.

We all know some of those people who just don't seem to care how cold it gets – they go out for walks, even runs, in sub zero temperatures. Are they crazy? Probably not – in fact, they're probably happier. Suzanne Peeko reports.

And don't forget – winter can be spectacularly beautiful... especially at Glacier National Park. Glacier is magnificent in summer, grand in the fall, but the 100-year-old park comes into its own in the deepest part of winter.

CATEGORY: MINORITIES, WOMEN & AGING

Program: 51%
Date: October 3, 2010

Description: Elizabeth Gilbert's Eat Pray Love was a sensation – a book that was a happy combination of travel, guilt free dining, enlightenment and romance. But the part of the story set in India is one that, according to a writer who spent years in that ashram, creates a mystique around Siddha Yoga that just isn't deserved. Marta Szabo, author of "The Guru Looked Good", was a Siddha Yoga insider; she became an assistant to Gurumayi, the master described as being in "uninterrupted identification with her Supreme Self. In her book, Szabo describes a very human guru who can be petty and generous, cruel and thoughtful. And since she wrote the book, Szabo's been the target of some bitter mail from Siddha Yoga followers who feel she's betrayed them.

Marta Szabo is the author of "The Guru Looked Good." She is co-director of the Authentic Writing Workshop in Woodstock, NY. You can find out more at Authenticwriting.com.

Coming up, are women's colleges still relevant? And we'll get into the mind of the founder of a creative dance company.

A recent survey showed that women are now getting PhD's in higher numbers than men. Those advanced degrees can be very important – and so are the colleges where you pursue your education. As prices continue to climb, students and parents are demanding that they get much more than a degree from today's colleges and universities. Author Selena Rezvani takes a look at the role of all-women colleges in the 21st century.

Finally, we're going to take an inside look at Weberdance – a contemporary dance company. It's narrated by founder and artistic director Dr. Jody Weber. She offers us a glimpse into the world behind an art form that, for many of us, is just plain baffling.

Program: 51%
Date: October 17, 2010

Description: A UN study shows that around the world, one woman dies in childbirth every minute. Correspondent Laura Iiyama reports on the UN effort to wage war on maternal mortality.

Coming up, an organization that's proving that uplifting stories can be news... and offers an alternative to hate. And why equal pay for women matters now more than ever.

Never forget, never forgive. It's a bumper sticker I've seen to commemorate the 9-11 attacks in New York. But there's an organization in the UK that is collecting stories of forgiveness – stories that show forgiveness may ultimately be more healing even for victims.

And finally, Selena Rezvani discusses the pink ghetto – the term for women in jobs traditionally done by women, who are not only underpaid, but who make less than their male colleagues. She points out that in a recession that's left many women the primary breadwinners in their families – it's time to demand change.

CATEGORY: MINORITIES, WOMEN & AGING (Cont'd)

Program: 51%
Date: October 24, 2010

Description: A University of Vermont researcher has just published the largest breast cancer surgery study ever done. The study focuses on a procedure called the sentinel node biopsy and 51%'s Pat Bradley spoke with the lead researcher, UVM surgeon Dr. David Krag.

Coming up, a makeup company has launched a website that collects women's cancer stories. And one writer remembers what living with cancer was like before that ubiquitous pink ribbon.

If you or someone you know has dealt with cancer, you know how lonely it can be. There's a place called the pastures in Western Massachusetts that calls itself a gathering place for women with cancer. They're launching the Pastures Retreat Program, the Pastures fund and face forward: the Jane Iredale walk for the Pastures Fund. Correspondent Bob Barrett spoke with Jane Iredale, the founder of a make-up line who's donated a grant toward the new retreat program.

And finally, writer Cheryl Ann Milsap talks about how the power of pink has transformed our understanding of breast cancer.

Program: 51%
Date: November 7, 2010

Description: Kathy Stevens is the founder and director of Catskill Animal Sanctuary, an 80 acre farm in the Hudson River Valley that has provided shelter for more than 1,700 animals since 2001. Many of them have found permanent homes. Stevens, while expanding the farm, creating a new vegan cuisine program and running a summer camp, has written a new book called "Animal Camp." It begins with the story of three misfit animals – a pig, a cow and a horse, who bond during a summer at what Stevens dubs the animal camp. But it's a book with a serious message... and some of it may disturb you.

Kathy Stevens is founder and director of the Catskill Animal Sanctuary in New York. Her new book is Animal Camp and you can find out more at the sanctuary website, casanctuary.org.

Coming up, why networking isn't just for the guys... and what the NY Times obit section can tell you about women.

If you're in the corporate world, it can be tough to convince yourself of the importance of networking with other women. Yet what outsiders see as a glorified coffee break can, according to Selene Razvani, can be a valuable tool for professional development. And more companies are seeing it that way.

And finally, our personal finance expert Manisha Thakor has some thoughts on what the obit section tells us about what we value.

CATEGORY: MINORITIES, WOMEN & AGING (Cont'd)

Program: 51%
Date: November 14, 2010

Description: Whether you get your news from cable or satellite television, one thing hasn't changed – mainstream media is still controlled by men. Despite the women behind the anchor desks, a group whose ranks have grown steadily, few women are in the very top positions or, perhaps more importantly, on the Boards of Directors of the major networks and cable news stations. Pat Mitchell is one of the first – she was the president and CEO of PBS, the first woman and first producer and journalist to hold the position. Pat Mitchell is now president and CEO of the Paley Center for Media and when we met at this fall's Omega Women and Power Conference, she said she's convinced there's a media revolution about to begin.

Coming up, the woman who's helping the children of Uganda remember how to be children.

During more than twenty years of civil war in Uganda, more than 35,000 children were abducted, and trained to be soldiers for the rebel forces. Jane Ekayo, a trauma Counselor featured in the documentary "Children of War" (produced and directed by Bryan Single), counsels former child soldiers as they try to transition back to their families. UNICEF radio reports.

And finally, Selena Rezvani has some thoughts on how we measure women's success. There are plenty of magazines that like to tell us about women at the top – but maybe it would mean more to us to hear about the women who are pushing their way up from the middle of the pack.

Program: 51%
Date: November 21, 2010

Description: Zaineb Salbi is the founder of Women for Women International. She's traveled to war torn parts of the world and done things that people told her were incredibly brave. But when I spoke with her at the Omega women and power conference, she told me that the bravest thing she had to do was tell people about her childhood – and about the man she was told to consider her uncle – Saddam Hussein. Her father was Saddam's pilot and then became a government official. And that, she feared, was who people would see if she admitted that past.

Zaineb Salbi is the founder of Women for Women International and the author of Between Two Worlds, a memoir of her life growing up under the shadow of Saddam Hussein.

Coming up, an effort to grow Haiti's food at home – tips for a secure retirement – and a Thanksgiving with no turkey.

Most farmers in Haiti have abandoned rural areas over the past 50 years to go live in the city. But one community in the Central Plateau has managed to restore agriculture and even bring back native crops. Ruxandra Guidi reports on some young Haitians who are choosing to stay in the countryside and help rebuild their country through sustainable agriculture.

Have you thought about your own future? Do you save for retirement? Do you even know how you should do it or how much you need? Our personal finance expert, Manisha Thakor, has some advice on how to be golden in your golden years..

And finally, with Thanksgiving coming up... a lot of us are thinking about prepping the big turkey. Some people will be eating Tofurky instead. They're part of the growing number of vegetarians and vegans... whether they're concerned about the safety of our food, the environmental impact of factory farms or choosing a plant based diet because of decision not to eat animals. The food industry is also changing to attract those new diet choices... and one result is Tofurkey. It's a meat substitute made out of tofu. Rebecca Williams got a cooking lesson from a devoted Tofurkey fan and her meat-eating boyfriend.

CATEGORY: MINORITIES, WOMEN & AGING (Cont'd)

Program: 51%
Date: December 5, 2010

Description: Feminism seems to be evolving – and part of the reason for that is the Internet. It's never been easier to connect, to discuss, to organize – and one of the earliest spots on the web for women was feminist.com. Founder Marianne Schnall, who's just put out a new book featuring some of the most prominent women she's interviewed over the years, stopped in to reflect on 15 years as host of a major feminist gathering place.

Coming up, Manisha Thakor looks at a changing employment landscape. And we'll meet the founders of a theatre company who were inspired by "Half the Sky".

The recession has turned many of our work lives upside down. Whether you've changed fields, dug in to your current job for the long haul, or struck out on your own, we're all seeing the changes. Manisha Thakor, founder of the Women's Financial Literacy Initiative, has some thoughts on the future.

Program: 51%
Date: December 12, 2010

Description: Women Without Borders is an organization we've introduced you to before. Founder Edit Schlaffer is a believer in communication breaking down barriers – she's the one who sponsored a joint speaking tour by the mother of a man who died in the 9-11 attacks in NY, and the mother of a man accused of helping plan those attacks. Now Women Without Borders is not only expanding into the US, but creating a communications network using new media. We sat together on a warm afternoon this past fall at the Omega Women and Power Conference.

Coming up, why the best place to advance your career might be overseas. Plus small farms may be dwindling in number, but the ones that are left are increasingly being run by women.

Moving up the career ladder can be a hard climb – particularly for many women. Selena Rezvani explains why working abroad may be the key to kickstarting your career.

And finally, more women are owning and running farms. That's according to the latest USDA census data. The number of women who run farms is up 19% nationwide. Reporter Ryan Morden profiles an organic farmer in Upstate New York who's an example of how the face of farming is changing.

CATEGORY: YOUTH & FAMILY

Program: 51%
Date: November 21, 2010

Description: Zaineb Salbi is the founder of Women for Women International. She's traveled to war torn parts of the world and done things that people told her were incredibly brave. But when I spoke with her at the Omega women and power conference, she told me that the bravest thing she had to do was tell people about her childhood – and about the man she was told to consider her uncle – Saddam Hussein. Her father was Saddam's pilot and then became a government official. And that, she feared, was who people would see if she admitted that past.

Zaineb Salbi is the founder of Women for Women International and the author of Between Two Worlds, a memoir of her life growing up under the shadow of Saddam Hussein.

Coming up, an effort to grow Haiti's food at home – tips for a secure retirement – and a Thanksgiving with no turkey.

Most farmers in Haiti have abandoned rural areas over the past 50 years to go live in the city. But one community in the Central Plateau has managed to restore agriculture and even bring back native crops. Ruxandra Guidi reports on some young Hatians who are choosing to stay in the countryside and help rebuild their country through sustainable agriculture.

Have you thought about your own future? Do you save for retirement? Do you even know how you should do it or how much you need? Our personal finance expert, Manisha Thakor, has some advice on how to be golden in your golden years..

And finally, with Thanksgiving coming up... a lot of us are thinking about prepping the big turkey. Some people will be eating Tofurky instead. They're part of the growing number of vegetarians and vegans... whether they're concerned about the safety of our food, the environmental impact of factory farms or choosing a plant based diet because of decision not to eat animals. The food industry is also changing to attract those new diet choices... and one result is Tofurkey. It's a meat substitute made out of tofu. Rebecca Williams got a cooking lesson from a devoted Tofurkey fan and her meat-eating boyfriend.